— SPECIAL 16-PAGE FEATURE INSIDE —

State Coal Mine Friends, Sheila Ormerod, John Duscher and Steve Harrop are looking for community support to get action at the heritage Wonthaggi site.

THE Friends of the State Coal Mine have called a public meeting this Wednesday night, March 29 at 7pm at the Wonthaggi Workmen's Club. They'd like to see a show of community support. They feel it's their last resort. Frustrated about the lack of action on reopening the popular State Mine Café, after it was closed in January this year, and resuming underground mine tours, since they were discontinued during COVID, the Friends want answers, and they want action.

They are particularly concerned that the 120 volunteers, who support the operation of the attraction - the only historic coal mine experience in the Southern Hemisphere - are becoming disenchanted with the lack of action, even information from the mine site managers, Parks Victoria, and are starting to drift away. "There's been a complete lack of action by Parks Victoria. It makes you wonder if they are the right organisation to be running the mine," said long-serving volunteer Sheila Ormerod. "When are they going to reopen the café and resume the underground mine tours? There needs to be a sense of urgency injected into this now," she said. "We want to preserve the volunteer base. There is a lot of knowledge, skills and energy within the group to support the operation of the mine site but we just want to be able to tell them what Parks Victoria and the State Government are planning to do."

State Coal Mine Friends, all of them long-term volunteers, John Duscher, Steve Harrop and Sheila Ormerod, are concerned skilled and knowledgeable volunteers will be lost to the historic attraction unless Parks Victoria moves now to reopen the cafe and restart underground mine tours.

On that score at least, there’s already been some movement since the meeting was called. Bass MP Jordan Crugnale, who has been making representations to Government Ministers on behalf of the Friends and the mine, will be there.

She’s not a representative of Parks Victoria but Ms Crugnale is expecting to receive a detailed briefing from the department with which to address some of the concerns.

“Our Friends of the State Coal Mine are passionate, committed volunteers who want to see the site be at its best and of course have the tours reopen,” said Ms Crugnale this week.

“I have met with representatives of the group, listened to their concerns and sought answers to their questions.

“We importantly discussed big picture future opportunities of the site as a whole and I see the need for some proper community visioning and master-planning so it can become a signature tourism, eco and educational destination with a myriad of offerings, activities and learnings.

“I have spoken with Ministers in the portfolio areas of Regional Development, Tourism and Environment to ascertain funding avenues to explore to do this visioning work with the Friends, local and visitor community members and Parks.

“This aspect is very early days.

“I have also asked for a briefing from Parks Victoria representatives so as to get a comprehensive understanding of where they are at with their investigations to reintroduce underground tours and options around the cafe lease process.”

They’re encouraging words. But, again, no promise of action.

Friends President Steve Harrop has acknowledged the complex issues around getting the mine tours going again but he says there’s no excuse for not appointing a new lessee and reopening the cafe.

“The cafe closed in January this year and there’s been no sign of that reopening which makes it pretty dead up here.”

Mr Harrop said the mine tours had operated safely for 37 years before they were discontinued during the pandemic, and notwithstanding the new compliance issues, they remained a crucial part of the whole attraction.

“The visitors absolutely loved it. They could sit back and look around the tunnel as they were being winched back to the surface.”

But Mr Harrop has acknowledged that there may be a need to design and build a new vehicle to take visitors underground with the former ‘Drift Car’ in pieces and unlikely to pass compliance testing.

He said he doubted Parks Victoria had the money to do the work.

Parks Victoria have, however, reissued a statement they made in January, that they are considering the future of the cafe and the mine tours:

- Parks Victoria is currently considering future options for the cafe area.
- The Visitor Centre and souvenir shop will remain open.
- Parks Victoria is currently investigating the feasibility of recommencing underground tours.

But the Friends say there has still been no commitment to action.

“Wonthaggi is a big regional centre and it’s only going to get bigger, we know that. It needs a major tourist attraction to complement what we have naturally and for the local economy,” said Frank Angarane, a Friends member and former local events’ manager.

“It’s a unique attraction, an opportunity to show future generations how people used to work. We want to see it realise its full potential,” he said.

“We welcome the department’s master plan for the site, to increase usage and visitation, but that’s further down the track. We want to know when they intend to reopen the cafe and restart the mine tours,” said Mr Harrop.

The Friends group is also hoping to boost its members’ base at the meeting and will be seek a $5 pro rata membership fee from those willing to join the group.

A dog ate my ballot papers

OUTGOING Victorian Electoral Commissioner Warwick Gately has raised the issue of the lack of ballot papers at some polling booths on election day Saturday, November 26, 2022 at an Electoral Matters Committee election review in State Parliament this week.

Mr Gately believes the fact that Victoria has one of the shortest lead-ups to an election might have been a reason why some polling places ran out of voting slips.

But such claims have been dismissed by local party faithful who say the VEC had four years to prepare for a fixed election date, more than enough time to have sufficient ballot papers printed.

The issue was a huge problem in the ultra-marginal Victorian seat of Bass, where the VEC turned dozens, possibly 100s of voters away on election day when upwards of six booths ran out of voting slips, potentially impacting the result of the election, won by the ALP’s Jordan Crugnale by a mere 202 votes.

Mr Gately, who presided over the equal lowest voter turnout since mandatory voting was introduced nearly 100 years ago, retires from the top job in April and will in fact go on leave until then from the end of this week.

Guests can stay and enjoy lunch provided by the Men's Sheddners. Come along to 9 Wild Dog Valley Road, Leongatha and find out for yourself.

Daring rescue
off Wilsons Prom

POLICE Air Wing and Water Police assisted in the rescue of two people off Wilsons Promontory early last week. It was understood a man and woman were onboard a boat that got into difficulty around 10pm last Monday, just off Skull Rock. The two abandoned the vessel and got into a dinghy that was attached to their boat and deployed an emergency beacon (EPIRB), allowing the Police Air Wing to locate the pair in rough seas. The Joint Rescue Coordination

Centre (JRCC) contacted a nearby cruise ship that was in the area. The cruise ship deployed their rescue craft to save the pair and return them to shore. Thankfully, no one was injured during the incident. Preparation when operating a vessel is the key to ensuring that your voyage runs smoothly. This includes carrying the right safety equipment and knowing how to use it. Learn more about how to stay safe around water and report marine accidents <https://www.police.vic.gov.au/water-safety>

laws from March 31

NEW road rules are being introduced regulating the use of a range of portable, wearable and inbuilt devices while driving a vehicle or riding a motorbike. The rules are expanded from mobile phones and visual display units to cover:

- Portable devices (unmounted mobile phones, tablets);
- Wearable devices (smart-watches, wearable heads-up display);
- Inbuilt devices (Information, navigation, and entertainment systems, heads-up display that is an inbuilt part of the vehicle);
- Mounted devices (Heads-up display, tablet, mobile phone, media player etc if securely mounted in or on a vehicle); and
- Motor bike helmet devices.

Milpara move to Community Hub nears

EXCITEMENT is building at Milpara Community House as preparations take place for the shift to the Korumburra Community Hub. While a date for the move isn't yet locked in, Milpara staff will be ready. New training computers are being set up for the shift, ensuring larger classes can be held when the move takes place. With 10 years of planning to move to a more suitable venue, Milpara Community House has saved money for the transition, ensuring it can finance the move. Milpara manager Jenni Keerie looks forward not only to the new facilities but to the challenge of extra responsibilities. "It's exciting for us to be preparing for taking on the role of Facility Manager for the new Hub and we are currently working towards how the booking systems will operate and negotiating the contract for what the role will encompass for community, council, and the House," Jenni said. She noted that while the new responsibility will be on a larger scale, the experience of Milpara staff in handling room bookings and managing different spaces will have them well prepared.

cheaper regional fares

HUNDREDS of thousands of passengers will benefit when the regional fare cap is implemented from March 31. The Government is capping the cost of a daily ticket on the entire regional Victorian network at the same price as a metro daily fare. Passengers wishing to purchase a ticket for long-distance trains and coaches are now able to book for travel from March 31. At Southern Cross Station, tickets can be purchased from the ticketing office. Current metro fares mean regional trips will initially be capped at $9.20 for a full fare or $4.60 for a concession – and at $6.70 and $3.35 for concession on a weekend or public holiday. For those who take long-distance V/Line journeys, the regional fare cap can save people more than $40 for each and every journey on the regional public transport network. The cap will also apply to interstate travel within 60 kilometres of the Victorian border, to ensure those living in border communities in New South Wales and South Australia benefit as well. The fare cap applies to all PTV regional buses, town buses and V/Line trains and coaches. For more information or to purchase tickets, visit vline.com.au or ptv.vic.gov.au.

How Bass Coast loves pet owners more

IF YOU go by the relative cost of registering a de-sexed dog or cat, the Bass Coast Shire Council loves pet owners more than its neighbour, South Gippsland Shire. Due on April 10, the cost of registering a de-sexed dog or cat in Bass Coast is $42 for one year or $21 concession. If you live over the border in South Gippsland, it will cost you $56.85 or half that for concession. Which proves it's simply a money making exercise with no relevance to the cost of providing pet services. Lifetime registration for a desexed dog in the ACT, for example, is only $57.55. You have to renew each year, so they know if you still have a dog or not, but it doesn't cost anything.

Rail trail opening

THE official Great Southern Rail Trail opening (Nyora to Leongatha extension) will be held on Saturday, April 1. The official location will be at Loch but there will be activities (food/refreshments) hosted by local community groups along the trail between Nyora and Korumburra. Two shuttle buses will run along the route throughout the day. Time: 9.00am – 4.00pm Where: Great Southern Rail Trail Nyora to Leongatha section. Official opening at 11.00am at the Loch Railway Station.

We should look after our own cemetery in Wonthaggi

LET'S be honest, Wonthaggi has not looked after its deceased citizens very well in the past.

And according to Wonthaggi historian and passionate cemetery archivist, Noelene Lyons, despite five and a half years of painstaking work, the final resting place of 683 of the 6908 people buried in the cemetery will never be known.

Few cemeteries in the state would have that many black marks on its register.

But despite that, Ms Lyons believes the cemetery records are potentially in the best shape they've ever been in, and the maintenance of the cemetery grounds has also turned the corner.

It's no time, she says, for the shire to be abrogating its responsibility for the operation of the cemetery and handing it over to a metro-based cemetery manager.

"The reality is that we are never going to know the exact resting place of those 683, which is disappointing, but at least we know they are buried at the Wonthaggi Cemetery," Ms Lyons said.

Among them, for example, are the 43 people who were buried in the original mine cemetery, from 1909 to 1911, before the Wonthaggi Cemetery was gazetted.

"There are two gravestones in that area (lawn at the front right of the cemetery), including a coal miner's daughter's grave which is still visited by family members, but no records have come to light of where people were buried there," Ms Lyons said.

As for the others, some 640, their final resting place will likely never be known, a result of poor recordkeeping, something that has dogged the history of the Wonthaggi Cemetery, right up to the present.

"Sometimes it's a simple administrative error. We had one recently with the two Binns brothers, William Binns (1899-1920) and Matthew Binns (1869-1917), where signs were erected on grave sites that proved not to be theirs.

"They had the section right and the grave number right, but not the row. The Binns brothers were actually buried 100 metres away. There have been a lot of incidents like that."

More distressing, however,

Wonthaggi's Noelene Lyons has completed a five-and-a-half year labour of love to correct the records of burial at the Wonthaggi Cemetery, but says we'll never know where 683 local people are buried.

have been cases where plots have been sold to families but subsequently found to be occupied by others, without the records to show for it.

In fact, after researching the records of 18 cemeteries, most of them in Gippsland, including Kilcunda, San Remo, Outtrim, Meeniyan, Foster, Woodside and Greenmount near Yarram; Ms Lyons is of the opinion that the Wonthaggi Cemetery records are among the worst she has seen.

"Most of the community trust-run cemeteries have kept meticulous records and are an absolute credit to their trustees and managers but there have been a number of periods of time when the records at Wonthaggi have been poorly kept.

"At one stage, the names of the people being buried at Wonthaggi were kept, but incredibly, not the location of their graves."

Ms Lyons said this was a particular problem when trying to identify the graves of ex-service people for the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

Another former 'Friend' of the cemetery, Renee Loeckenhoff, has put in many volunteer hours researching this aspect.

"Together with Renee, we have been able to identify the resting place of most of our ex-service personnel and working with the RSL, Renee has been able to pass those records on to the Commonwealth War Graves Commission and we have been able to have a number of those war graves rededicated."

However, while Ms Lyons was given the voluntary responsibility, by the cemetery trust, of trying to put the records in order, there has been a falling out between the former Friends group and the Bass Coast Shire Council, to the point now that they won't deal with Ms Lyons or accept her corrections to the official record.

This impasse, and a general inability to work with cemetery volunteers, had its ultimate expression recently when the shire council, the official trustees of the Wonthaggi Cemetery, threw up their hands and declared they couldn't manage either the Wonthaggi or the San Remo cemetery to the satisfaction of the community.

They voted at their March 15, 2023 meeting that the only solution was to hand over management to a Melbourne-based cemetery group, Southern Metropolitan Cemeteries Trust (SMCT).

Ms Lyons says that's nonsense.

"There are dozens of community cemeteries with similar burial numbers to Wonthaggi that are well looked after and operate successfully in the black locally including Inverloch, Korumburra and Leon-gatha.

She said the shire needs to explore the options for keeping the management of the cemetery local.

If not, she says extensive community consultation is mandated by the Victorian Health Department (see Manual for Victorian Class B cemetery trusts Revised April 2022 page 33) before a Class B Cemetery Trust can be either abolished or amalgamated.

Additional plots for cemetery

BASS Coast Shire has appointed Wiltrack Earthmoving Pty Ltd to construct new burial plots at the Cameron Street Wonthaggi Cemetery.

This will be the first stage of a proposed three stage construction project at the cemetery.

This project is being funded by Council in the amount of $130,000 as part of the Capital Works program 2022/2023.

The works are expected to commence late March 2023 and will take approximately 4-5 weeks to complete.

The aim of this project is to provide additional plots at the cemetery. The works will include, but are not limited to, ground preparation, lawn beam construction and creating a temporary access road that will be upgraded at the completion of further stages.

During the works, there will be some minor vegetation removal along the southern boundary of the cemetery closest to the access road of Wonthaggi Transfer Station for drain works.

Wonthaggi sculpture celebrates history

A NEW public art installation, that honours Wonthaggi's coal mining heritage while embracing climate action and renewable energy sources, has been erected in the town as part of Bass Coast Shire Council's Public Art Program.

Australian artist Joel Adler, who specialises in environmentally inspired artworks, has created a 4-metre sculpture from a range of materials, including Corten steel, stainless steel, concrete and toughened glass mirror. The sculpture pays tribute to Wonthaggi's past to capture the town's character and transition over the years.

The $40,000 artwork, Emergence, features a dramatic steel structure emerging through a mirror surface on a Corten steel plinth. Coal tunnels ascend from the work and converge at two points, transformed through the mirror with a loop of endless energy.

The art was installed on Tuesday, March 21, the corner of Heron Drive and Graham Street.

The site holds relevance as a meeting point for walkers, runners and cyclists using the Nyora Wonthaggi Rail Trail. But it was once a freight link used to transport coal from the Wonthaggi mines to Melbourne and beyond, as well as the site of the original Wonthaggi 'tent town'.

Adler, an award-winning artist, and industrial designer who was mentored by renowned artist-architect Chris Fox, has taken out multiple top awards at Sydney's iconic Sculpture by the Sea events. An exciting national talent, Adler plans to sprinkle coal from the Wonthaggi mine in the plinth of the sculpture as a symbolic gesture.

"I care a lot about sustainability and the environment, so it's important for me to make the work site-specific as well as

New public art installed on the corner of Heron Drive and Graham Street, pays tribute to Wonthaggi's past to capture the town's character and transition over the years. Z05_1323 community-specific to start conversations," he said.

"As you move around the work, in my mind, it's like a visual story. You go from these large tunnels emerging from the ground, then you pass the 'present plane' which is the mirror surface. Finally, 'looking into the future' is this reflective loop representing this endless energy, a sustainable source of energy that cannot run out."

Since 2014 Bass Coast Shire Council has commissioned one artist a year to create a themed, site-specific artwork that represents the local area. Previous winners include Love and Precious Things by Joe Donohue in Cape Paterson, and Alpha by Geoffrey Bartlett in Newhaven.

Mayor's message

Big step closer to saving Western Port Woodlands

LAST year Council was shocked and disappointed when the State Government decided to green light the extension of a controversial sand mine in Grantville into the much-loved Western Port Woodlands.

This decision ignored serious community and environmental concerns. It permitted Dandy Premix Quarries to clear 13 hectares of native woodland, expand their already large sand quarry, remove 30 million tonnes of sand over 40 years, and dig below the water table. Irreparable, the woodlands would be gone forever.

Southern brown bandicoots, powerful owls, swift parrots, koalas, plus countless endangered plant and fungus species call Western Port Woodlands home. It's a crucial 'bio-link', or wildlife corridor, connecting fragments of rare coastal forest. The serenity is also treasured by our human community. Mining this habitat directly contradicts the state's own mission to safeguard areas of outstanding environmental and cultural significance: Bass Coast was declared a Distinctive Area and Landscape in 2019, one of just four, garnering some of the highest planning protections.

Council passionately opposes this project, so joined the Save Western Port Woodlands campaign alongside the South Gippsland Conservation Society, Victorian National Parks Association and more. We have now reached a critical point, with significant progress.

From March 6, the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes Standing Advisory Committee began public hearings at Wonthaggi Town Hall, to confirm how Bass Coast can develop while still conserving our environmental and cultural importance. Hearings continue across Melbourne, Wonthaggi and San Remo to the end of April.

The future of Western Port Woodlands has been central.

Lawyers and scientists presented expert evidence, which at the heart questioned why most of this native forest is designated an 'extractive industry interest area'. Eight destructive sand mines already operate there, including five in conservation reserves. Another 11 work permits have been approved for sand mining, seven more are under application.

26 sand mines in an area of outstanding significance is disastrous: they are permanent, deep scars on our landscape.

The Minister's own ecology expert, James Garden, agrees. At the committee, he publicly stated that the Western Port Woodlands are of irreplaceable, national significance, and that sand mining is incompatible with biodiversity objectives. Conservation means protecting vegetation – not clearing it.

Critically James also agreed that post-mining rehabilitation will never heal the land. Once cleared, vegetation is lost permanently. Sand mining is not appropriate within our vitally important, unspoiled areas nor within proximity to residents. Resource extraction is a threat to our economy, which directly relies on our environment, especially tourism and agriculture.

Council urgently seeks Extractive Industry Interest Areas be removed from Bass Coast and that sand mining ends here.

We ask the Minister to accept the recommendations from the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes public hearing. Our environment is our economy in Bass Coast, yet the state's incongruous decision proves it does not value both equally, which is incredibly concerning.

I want to personally thank everyone involved for their passion and hard work. I invite you to join the next hearing on 12 April at Wonthaggi Town Hall, in person or online, where Save Western Port Woodland will be presenting. This is critical for Bass Coast and future generations, so let's keep fighting!

Almost $10M for emergency repairs following severe weather

SINCE 2021, South Gippsland Shire has been heavily impacted by adverse weather with a total of six declared disaster events in that time. The result is more than 100 slips have been recorded, with 50 of those fixed to date. More than $13 million worth of works have been approved by Emergency Management Victoria and to date, in excess of $9.8 million worth of works have been completed. At the moment, seven slips are of the greatest concern to Council. These slips are located on:

- Popes Road, Wonga;
- Nippards Track, Foster;
- Clarkes Road, Hallston;
- Grand Ridge Road, Hallston (Site 1);
- Grand Ridge Road, Trida (Site 2);
- Sanders Road, Korumburra (two slip sites); and
- Main South Road, Poowong.

Council is in the process of finalising the contracts for the Design and Construction of the major slips and encourages local contractors to make a submission once the contracts are released. Until these works are completed, Council will endeavour to keep the roads open for as long as they remain safe. For the more complicated slips, works are likely to progress well into 2023. This means that the load restrictions on these roads will need to stay in place. Applications to receive essential services where the load limit will need to be temporarily lifted will be considered. Please contact Council if this is required at any point. The remaining slips are smaller and have not affected traffic on these roads, however they will also need to be addressed as resources permit. As further information and updates come to hand regarding the landslips, Council will let residents and the community know. For more detailed information on each slip, please visit www.southgippsland.vic.gov.au/roadhazards

Preserving the memory of those who served

LYN Skillern (OAM) has added another incredible feat to her long list of achievements when she launched her new book 'Forgotten For Too Long' on Sunday. Well known for her involvement with the Leongatha Historical Society, the book launch was well attended with guest speaker Peter Dennison, son of Lark Force survivor Cliff Dennison. The book chronicles the stories of the 79 Gippslanders who served with Lark Force at Rabaul in New Britain during the early days of the Japanese advance in the South Pacific. The historical society thanked families and descendants who attended on the day and shared their stories. Lyn's ongoing service to the community of Leongatha was acknowledged earlier this year when she was chosen to receive the Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM). Would a program that integrates timber trees into your whole farm plan be of interest to you? Or are you a landowner looking to establish plantations to diversify income streams?

CALL FOR GRANT APPLICATIONS

VicForests is establishing a farm forestry program in Gippsland for landholders. The program encourages the expansion of farm forestry plantations to help address future timber and fibre requirements.

The program will focus on the establishment of suitable tree species, either within plantations or integrated with an agricultural enterprise. Grants will be awarded through an application process.

Grant applications open on 13 March 2023 and close on 14 of April 2023.

Further information is available at VicForests website: www.vicforests.com.au/farm-forestry

More Bass Coast kids get onboard Kids as Catalysts

MORE Bass Coast kids are set to increase their social, emotional and leadership skills and create positive change in their communities, as a record four local schools commence the Kids as Catalysts program in Term 2 this year.

Teachers and educators from Bass Valley, Wonthaggi North, Powlett River and Newhaven Primary Schools got together on Tuesday, March 21, in Kilcunda to learn how to deliver the program in their schools.

Bass Coast Community Foundation chair Phil Friedlos said the growth of the program is a credit to the local teachers and schools' commitment delivering it, and the growing support of local community organisations.

"The 78 grade five and six students involved in last year's program have clearly demonstrated improvements in positive social and emotional skills, connections and engagement with the community, and greater understanding and practice of leadership skills," he said.

"These are exactly the reasons the Foundation is funding the program - to help grow aspirations and community connections for local kids."

"We are very proud to continue to support Kids Thrive, such a forward-looking local organisation, to have such a positive impact on the lives of children's mental health and wellbeing."

"A huge thank you also to the 17 local community organisations and volunteer groups who have supported the program and provide such a positive experience for the kids," Phil said.

Bass Coast Kids as Catalysts is an evidence-based program that uses creativity to engage and educate children, supporting young people to be positive change makers and leaders by partnering with local organisations to deliver community action projects.

Dispensary's history on show for all to enjoy

THERE was much jubilation and celebration last Wednesday as Wonthaggi Miners' Dispensary officially unveiled their long-awaited laneway mural.

Dispensary Chair, Danny Luna opened proceedings inside thanking artists Dennis Leversha and James "Jim" Barritt for their 'labour of love', and General Manager Sally and her team at the Dispensary for their assistance throughout.

Mobility issues may have prevented Dennis from seeing out the majority of artistic works, but it did result in signwriter Jim coming on board and together the pair created magic in the laneway through Wonthaggi's wind and rain.

Depicting 100 years of the Dispensary and the final feather in the cap to mark the centenary, Board Member, Rod Beech took the honours in the cutting the ribbon in front of fellow board members, life members and guests.

"A life member of the dispensary, (Rod) spent 14 years on the board, 10 of those consecutively as the Chair," Danny said.

"Looking into Sam's (Gatto) book, your grandfather George Beech was also elected chairman of the dispensary back in 1926."

Dedicated to the pioneers of 1922 (and later dental clinic integration in 1927) the dispensary was an integral part of the miner's welfare system.

Highlighting brands present in yesteryear (and some still available today), the mural also depicts a pharmacy manager and customers.

A favourite of many at the unveiling was the inclusion of the Miner's Black Jack, said to be a cure for everything and present in every home, no-one quite knows everything contained within the bottle, but it did note on the bottle chloroform, ether and morphine.

"I remember having it as a kid," Rod Beech explained.

Community concern impacts final rural tourism strategy

WHILE councillors were largely in favour of adopting the final Bass Coast Unlocking Rural Tourism (BURT) strategy, a number of significant issues were raised during consultation.

The project's purpose is to undertake a land use study for Bass Coast Shire's rural tourism precincts, with a scope to investigate the reasons for what has been considered limited tourism investment in the rural areas of the shire.

Council and the Victorian Planning Authority (VPA) engaged Urban Enterprise to undertake a tourism land use study.

The strategy was prepared in early 2022, and involved assessing the current policy environment, reviewing existing gaps in appropriately considering tourism activity in the shire and proposing a future vision for rural tourism.

Some key recommendations in the draft strategy included reverting all land in the Rural Activity Zone to Farming Zone and replacing the 'Rural Tourism Precincts' currently applied across the Bass Coast Planning Scheme (Scheme), with the following sub-regions:

- Phillip Island and San Remo
 - Bass Hinterland
 - Waterline and Bass River Precinct
 - Bunurong Coastline
- There were 46 submissions

Councillors voted in favour to adopt the final Bass Coast Unlocking Rural Tourism (BURT) strategy however, there were a number of concerns raised about rezoning all land within the Rural Activity Zone to Farming Zone.

received with feedback including:

- Keep the Rural Activity Zones as they are recognised appropriate locations for tourism
- Ensure that key tourism assets on Phillip Island receive ongoing support and capacity to continue operating effectively
- Ensure aboriginal heritage and indigenous values are recognised, protected and enhanced
- Concern over economic focus of the strategy
- Tourist operators desiring better signage opportunities
- Concern about rates and property rises

In regards to rates and property rises due to increased tourist activity, the strategy's key findings stated that, 'Although BURT can not categorically say that changes in tourism activity will not increase rates, fees and property prices, the assessment of cost changes, is an economic decision based on an assessment of factors that goes well beyond that which can be considered by BURT. The shire's revenue department are able to provide wider advice with regard to rates assessments and fee changes.'

There was also a number of submissions concerned about the recommendation to re-zone all land within the Rural Activity Zone (RAZ) to Farming Zone (FZ).

"Concern was based around the notion that removing the entire zoning, simply to facilitate potential future tourism outcomes, is not appropriate nor an orderly and proper way to plan for development in regional areas," the strategy states.

The final strategy proposes to remove the recommendation to replace the RAZ in favour of the FZ, and replace the recommendations with:

- * Investigate the potential to rezone land in the RAZ to FZ in situations where tourism and other activities directly related to the intended use of the RAZ have not been, nor appear likely to occur. Further, to investigate areas in the FZ where there is potential to rezone the land to RAZ. These investigations can occur as part of preparing a future comprehensive Rural Strategy.

- * Undertake discussions with DELWP to determine an appropriate mechanism to establish permissible accommodation land uses when associated with an appropriately located and scaled tourism use

- * Undertake discussions with DELWP to determine if it is appropriate for the 'minimum subdivision area' to be retained between 40 and 260 hectares.

Mahers Landing set for upgrade

BASS Coast Shire Councillors gave their support to issue a planning permit for the redevelopment of Mahers Landing boating facilities in Inverloch.

The proposal was recommended for reasons including it 'provides a functional design in fitting with the area's coastal / estuarine environment and Anderson Inlet's landscape character'.

Key features of the proposal include:

- Retention of the existing boat ramp to provide a launching place for non-powered craft.
- A new all-tide dual-lane boat ramp extending approximately 80m from the carpark into Anderson Inlet, elevated above the beach on concrete piles.
- A 2m wide dual level jetty/holding structure adjacent to the ramp.
- Formalised and extended paved car park accommodating a total of 66 spaces: --- Fifty-seven car-trailer spaces. Five standard car spaces. Two car-trailer spaces and two standard car spaces for people living with disabilities.
- Widening the entry to the car park.
- Upgraded rock revetment around the water side of the Mahers Landing precinct.
- Construction of a new public toilet/amenities block and park benches.
- Retention of the fish clearing facilities.
- Removal of terrestrial native vegetation and provision of new landscaping.
- Removal of aquatic native vegetation (sea grass).

During 2022, Minister for Fishing and Boating Sonya Kilkenny and Member for Bass Jordan Crugnale had announced $4M in funding for the upgrades at Mahers Landing.

According to Better Boating Victoria, once permits and approvals were obtained construction was expected to commence this year.

Once construction begins, the ramp will be likely be closed for periods of time.

Nationwide shortage of Occupational Therapists

GIPPSLAND Southern Health Service (GSHS) is hoping to boost its occupational therapy service as a nation-wide shortage leads to long waiting lists.

GSHS has two full-time and two part-time occupational therapists but has had up to eight staff members in the past and currently has a number of positions vacant.

Occupational therapy team leader Beth Shields said there was a shortage of OTs across Australia, particularly in rural areas.

“There is an overall shortage and that is reflected in our wait lists to provide services to public health clients, including people aged over 65, people under 65 who are eligible for Home and Community Care programs and paediatric clients,” Ms Shields said.

“I don’t think any public health service has a full complement of occupational therapists at this stage,” she added.

Ms Shields said the introduction of NDIS had impacted by creating a new market for allied health services, particularly for occupational therapists.

“It has always been difficult to attract people to rural areas but now there is more scope for people to work privately. We have seen a lot of new private O.T services established, but there hasn’t been an increase in the labour market.”

Ms Shields said the GSHS service helps people who don’t have access to funded services and who can’t afford to pay privately.

All services are feeling the pinch in the region. “For the past three or four years due to the issue in attracting staff, wait times have consistently been a problem,” Ms Shields said.

Private O.T services in the region have 6-8 month wait lists while GSHS clients are waiting 3-4 months. “Sometimes we have to give priority to the most urgent cases,” Ms Shields added.

GSHS has funding for hand therapy services two days per week but has been unable to fill the position.

Ms Shields said being an occupational therapist in a public health service was a rewarding career.

“We’re able to help people who can’t access the services privately or can’t afford to use those services,” she said. “It is a really supportive environment at Gippsland Southern Health Service and there are many opportunities to learn and develop specialist areas, such as hand therapy or paediatrics, as well as build up general skills.”

People interested in joining the GSHS occupational therapy team can contact the Allied Health Manager on 5654 2701.

All aboard at Milpara

MILPARA Community House is moving towards becoming a ticketing agency for V/Line, having been approached by that organisation to apply for accreditation to do so.

The Community House’s Committee of Governance approved the application for submission and it has been lodged.

“We will now wait for consent, and if this is successful, we will have this service available at Milpara at our current location and then it will move with us to the new Hub,” Milpara manager Jenni Keerie said.

Should Milpara become a V/Line ticketing agency, Jenni said it is not yet certain whether it would continue the role long term, explaining there may be more suitable options in the community.

“However, the income from this service may not be sustainable for a business, though it is something that can be absorbed into the operations of Milpara quite readily,” Jenni said.

Sentinel-Times will provide an update when the outcome of Milpara’s application to become a V/Line ticketing agency is known.

THE YANAKIE Progress Association (YPA) expressed its concerns over the potential transfer of land management responsibility for the Yanakie foreshore from the South Gippsland Shire Council to the State Government.

Council’s recent ‘Coastal Strategy Discussion Paper’ noted that council is the Committee of Management for 18 kilometres of Yanakie foreshore but lacks resources required to achieve its responsibilities in terms of monitoring, enforcement and asset management.

The document states the Victorian Government has expressed willingness to take responsibility for the Yanakie foreshore area, subject to reaching an agreement with Parks Victoria to become the land manager.

Members of the YPA and other concerned residents met at Yanakie Hall to discuss that prospect and outline their views.

A couple of key concerns raised are the lack of direct consultation with affected communities, and the impact the land management transfer to the State Government may have on access, maintenance of, and improvements to the Yanakie foreshore.

YPA president Damian Paull said those in the organisation are keen for alternative land management options to be explored, stressing that relevant examples exist elsewhere.

“We believe that it is too early in the process to offer solutions, but other foreshore areas are managed by volunteer committees of management, and a similar approach could be suitable for the Yanakie foreshore,” he said.

Damian also suggested there may be other innovative solutions available.

Prior to the community meeting, he attended a Coastal Strategy Consultation Day at Foster’s Manna Gum Community House, with the prospect of Parks Victoria taking over management of the Yanakie foreshore area discussed there.

That prompted an online call for local views on the possibility of State Government management of the land and led to the community meeting.

“People who have been through this in other areas felt that Parks Victoria would focus more on the conservation of the area rather than improvements and shared access for the community,” Damian said.

He noted that currently locals visit Duck Point to walk dogs or ride horses on the beach, arguing that under Parks Victoria management of the land such activities are unlikely to be permitted.

In a formal submission made to the South Gippsland Shire Council, YPA expressed its objection to the potential transfer of land management responsibility for the coastal Yanakie Crown land currently managed by council.

While the progress association is supportive of the need to protect the natural ecosystems of the area, it doesn’t want that to be at the expense of access to and enjoyment of existing facilities.

For more information, contact the Yanakie Progress Association at yanakieprogress@gmail.com

Early learning centre almost there

THE Leongatha Early Learning Centre is expected to be finalised this month and be operation in April.

The centre is a new Early Years Facility incorporating kindergarten, long day care, supported playgroup and space for related family services.

The new building is approx. 1095m² in size consisting of four main day-care/pre-school rooms with shared amenities, allied health, and associated staff/admin rooms, including kitchen, laundry and outdoor staff area.

This is combined with a large outdoor play-space of approximately 1500 square metres consisting of a mix of nature-based elements and natural play structures designed to cater for the varying age groups.

According to the shire, the building is nearing completion. Final finishes and painting are currently taking place while landscaping and civil works are well advanced.

Mayor’s Message

Advocacy Goes to Canberra

PRODUCTIVE and positive engagement with State and Federal governments can often assist in seeing successful outcomes at a Council level. Due to the very nature of our government system that we must work with-in, Councils across Australia rely on both the State and Federal governments for funding and assistance.

Last week along with Deputy Mayor Williams and Chief Executive Officer Kerryyn Ellis, I travelled to Canberra to advocate for South Gippsland and to share our key priorities.

We wasted no time, meeting with the offices of 11 key Ministers, Members and heads of departments, as well as attending Question Time. Key advocacy points were around infrastructure, roads and transport, agriculture, renewable energy, our local environment, mental health and education.

This visit is just the beginning of taking South Gippsland’s advocacy priorities, more generally, to both State and Federal governments. I will continue to demonstrate our local need and opportunities at future meetings and events, aimed at getting the attention of decision makers at both levels of government. South Gippsland also has a strong voice that can be used through my recent appointments to the Municipal Association of Victoria (MAV) board and as Deputy Chair of One Gippsland.

I truly believe that South Gippsland has a bright future and I’m confident that our clear and coordinated advocacy plan, together with proactive engagement, will assist in ensuring our continued future success.

Business Associations Presidents Lunch

Economic growth in the Shire is naturally a priority for Council, and we recognise that our dispersed communities have unique offerings and needs. At the same time, many of our towns are often faced with similar challenges. Our towns are well represented by their various business associations, and was great to spend an afternoon networking and sharing between key members of the business associations from across South Gippsland, with the first Business Associations Presidents Lunch held since Covid.

In further business news, The Small Business Bus will be in Leongatha on Wednesday 29 March and Korumburra on Thursday, March 30 between 10am and 4pm.

The Bus is a great opportunity to get helpful tips on how to start or grow your business, or access financial counselling.

To book, visit <https://business.vic.gov.au/learning-and-advice/workshops-and-small-business-bus>. Alternatively, you can walk up on the day (subject to availability).

Great Southern Rail Trail Official Opening

The opening of the Great Southern Rail Trail is Saturday, April 1. All are welcome. Join at Nyora with BBQ breakfast at 9am and have your trail ‘passport’ stamped to begin your adventure. The official opening will begin at 11am at the Loch Railway Station. As you pass through towns on the way to Leongatha, stop a moment and enjoy the refreshments on offer and get your next stamp. There will also be two free shuttle buses running throughout the day. A more detailed itinerary can be found online at <https://visit-southgippsland.com.au/gsrtopening/>

Winds of concern continue for offshore energy

FOLLOWING the Federal Government's announcement to formally declare sections of coastal waters between Port Albert and Lakes Entrance as the nation's first offshore wind zone, concerns have still been swirling throughout South Gippsland.

During late 2022, Minister for Climate Change and Energy, Chris Bowen, made the declaration, as well as that Wilsons Prom and areas west would not be included.

However, South Gippsland Shire Council has continued to remain concerned that zones near the Prom and down towards Bass Coast could still be included in the future.

Community concern has also continued with some believing the council was 'actively' advocating for offshore wind developments.

Mayor, Cr Nathan Hersey, spoke with the Sentinel-Times recently to address some of the misconceptions and clarify the shire's view.

"There's a lot of confusion at the moment and it has to do with how many organisations are out there trying to spruik what they want to do in the area," he said.

"The government, both state and federal, really didn't engage enough (with community) at the beginning and we've been pretty clear about our disappointment.

"Particularly the Federal Government following the declaration of the offshore wind zones without extensive engagement."

Mayor Hersey said the shire is supportive of renewable energies, but they were deeply concerned that two proposed zones were close to the coast of Wilsons

South Gippsland Shire Mayor, Cr Nathan Hersey has expressed ongoing disappointment regarding a lack of engagement from state and federal governments for offshore wind energy.

Prom at the time.

"Council agreed it was not appropriate for either amenity or visual impacts, and the lack of environmental investigations," he said.

"And we stand by that.

"The Minister has ruled it out, but it's only an 18-month hiatus if you will from that (area) being investigated.

"We've asked for a clear commitment from the government that the area is off the table completely."

Cr Hersey said it was council's responsibility to advocate for favourable outcomes following the declared areas.

"This includes employment, operations and maintenance, long term legacy investment in the region, not just once off, but serious thoughtful investment.

"We clearly want, and this is One Gippsland's position too, proper consideration for the route of the infrastructure.

"We don't want one that goes through farms and reduces their capacity."

Cr Hersey, as well as the deputy mayor and CEO travelled to Canberra recently and requested a meeting with Minister Bowen.

Slap for Gippsland, says O'Brien

The State Government also released the Victorian Offshore Wind Energy Implementation Statement 2, which sets out how Victoria will leverage investment in offshore wind for the first tranche of projects that will deliver at least 2 gigawatts (GW) by 2032.

The strategy confirms the location of the Victorian Renewable Energy Terminal at the Port of Hastings.

A Renewable Energy Supply Chain Hub will be developed near offshore wind development areas.

The strategy also outlines that VicGrid will lead on the development of transmission infrastructure for offshore wind.

It will consider a range of feasible options and is expected to announce the specific transmission connection point locations and route corridors in Gippsland and Portland by the end of the year.

According to The Nationals Member for Gippsland South, Danny O'Brien, the government's decision to select the Port of Hastings as the construction port for offshore windfarms is a setback for Gippsland.

Mr O'Brien said the Government's decision to choose a major port facility outside Gippsland will significantly diminish the potential benefits of the proposed offshore wind industry to the region.

"The Government has now confirmed it will establish a Victorian Renewable Energy Terminal at the Port of Hastings, effectively turning its back on Gippsland ports such as Barry Beach which are closer to most of the proposed offshore wind-farms.

"We need jobs to be created locally to help the energy transition in the Latrobe Valley and Wellington Shire. Using Barry Beach in South Gippsland for at least some of the construction, as well as ongoing operations, will help our region transition and further diversify the South Gippsland economy."

Mr O'Brien said the latest Offshore Wind Implementation Statement from the Government also highlights that additional transmission lines will be needed through Gippsland on top of that currently proposed by Ausnet Services.

"I am bemused that the Government says its VicGrid organisation is coordinating transmission for the offshore wind industry when the reality is that it is at least a year behind the private sector.

"If we are going to have to put up with overhead transmission lines through Gippsland then we want to see the benefits of the offshore windfarms and they will largely bypass us if the government persists in using the Port of Hastings."

Newhaven College's Alumni reunion from years 1993, 2003, 2013 and 2018.

Newhaven College showcases outstanding facilities and students for open day

ON SATURDAY, March 25, Newhaven College hosted the annual College Open Day and Alumni reunions for graduates from years 1993, 2003, 2013 and 2018. The College's stunning 82-acre campus was looking its best as visitors teemed from the Gym to the Year 9 Environmental Centre, taking in everything in between.

Open Day

Hundreds of prospective students and their families visited the College on the day. College student leaders took guided tours around the school, sharing their knowledge and passion for their school with visitors. It was impressive to see so many students and staff helping out on the day in various ways. Highlights included the Equestrian display located near the Year 9 Environmental Centre, where families watched some of Victoria's best junior riders show off their skills. The gym was home to fun sporting activities, as well as displays on the school's surf and tennis academies. Displays and presentations were on offer throughout the school's main locations. Visitors were treated at every location around the campus. For those unable to attend, Newhaven College tours can be arranged through the College's Registrar Belinda Manning at belinda.manning@newhavencol.vic.edu.au, 5956 7505 or book online through the Newhaven College website.

Alumni Reunion

Newhaven College is in the process of growing its alumni connections, so the annual reunion is the perfect place to get things moving. The school welcomed back students who graduated in 1993 (30 years), 2003 (20 years), 2013 (10 years) and 2018 (5 years). They were met by Principal Tony Corr who guided the group on a tour of the school. For many of these students, even the most recently departed, there were plenty of new and exciting facilities to share with the returning graduates.

Say love in your language

MYLI – My Community Library is supporting love your library in your language this March. This campaign aims to encourage library patrons from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds (CALD) to participate by writing a message of love to their library in their preferred language in during Cultural Diversity Week March 11-21, and Harmony Week March 20-26, 2023.

Postcards have been created by CAVAL, campaign sponsor. The postcards provide a space for a handwritten message.

During the campaign, participating libraries are encouraging patrons to write a message to be displayed in libraries during the campaign. Throughout the campaign, postcard messages will be shared on social media channels with hashtag #loveyourlibrary.

At the end of the campaign, the completed postcards be collected and shared with the Victorian Minister for Multicultural Affairs, The Hon Colin Brooks, as part of Public Libraries Victoria's ongoing campaign to build a coalition of support for libraries among Victorian politicians. The postcards will help raise awareness of the importance of libraries for Victoria's multicultural communities.

The campaign will be promoted through March and April to advocate and promote library services and how libraries work with partners like CAVAL to support learning and literacy needs of CALD communities.

CAVAL is a trusted partner inspiring and driving innovation in the library community and focusses on collaboration, capability building and collection management. CAVAL's highly skilled, multilingual team from the Language Resources department sources and catalogues community language and ESL resources from all over the world. Carefully curated collections are customised to local specifications and delivered shelf-ready to libraries across Australia and New Zealand.

Drop into your local Myli library in Bass Coast, Baw Baw, Cardinia or South Gippsland Shire and ask for a postcard to show the love to your library in your language this March. For more information visit myli.org.au or call 1800 44 6954.

Concerns over seal health continue after census

THOUSANDS of fur seals around Phillip Island have been counted as part of a five yearly census to determine the health of the population. The pups are used as an index of the population because they are easy to count, being all ashore at one time compared to adults that leave to find food. The census is performed using a combination of drone surveys and counts on the ground. Phillip Island Nature Parks researchers visited sites from Seal Rocks at Phillip Island, west to Cape Bridgewater and east to The Skerries and Gabo Island near Mallacoota.

While the last censuses in 2013 and 2017 have shown that seal pup numbers had declined by 22 per cent, researchers are yet to complete the counting of the most recent drone images and collate the results with collaborators from Deakin University and Natural Resources and Environment, Tasmania. Phillip Island Nature Parks researchers say the adult population is currently stable with an estimated 20,000 fur seals using Seal Rocks as their base. "We have a very strong connection to the seal population at Phillip Island. Seal Rocks is an iconic seal habitat it is the largest colony of Australian fur seals and it is wonderful to share this region with them," Nature Parks Marine Scientist Rebecca McIntosh said. Research suggests that toxicants in the ocean and disease are contributing to reduced pup survival. The females are having a pup every year, but they do not all survive. Last Wednesday was International Seal Day, and Dr McIntosh says one good thing people can do to protect our seal population is to put their rubbish in the bin, especially when out boating and fishing. "Unfortunately, the most common entanglement for the seals is recreational fishing line," she said. "There could be up to 300 seals a year who are trapped and injured by marine waste across the population. At Seal Rocks, we can see up to 11 individuals per field trip and we release about half of those we see. As you can imagine, it is not easy to catch injured wild seals that are nervous of people. But every release helps that individual have a second chance at life." The results of census take several years to analyse and review before they are made public.

$1.4M to restore Kernot Krowera Road

COUNCILLORS showed no hesitation in adopting a recommendation to approve up to $1.4M to repair 250 Kernot Krowera Road, Kernot following a landslide last year.

The recommendation also proposed giving the shire's CEO authority to award the contract for design and construction, and allow officers to continue progressing the Emergency Recovery funding application with the Victorian Disaster Recovery Funding Agency.

Following heavy rains in August 2022, a landslide occurred causing considerable damage to a 70-metre section of the road.

The landslide extended over approximately 70,000 square metres on private property uphill and downhill from the road.

Due to the extent of the damage and ground movement, the road has been closed since.

A report had identified the Landslide Risk Rating as extremely high, and details the extensive repairs needed to anchor the road pavement into the bedrock using piles and rock anchors to 'bridge' across the landslide to restore the road safely.

To inform the grant application, an independent engineering consultancy was engaged to review the Landslide Risk Assessment Road repair options and provide a certified engineers estimate of repair costs.

According to shire documents revealed at last week's council meeting, the estimate is $1.4 million, noting this is subject to further assessment of sub-surface ground conditions.

The impact of the road closure is that road users and residents have an 18-kilometre detour around the landslide.

The road also serves almost 25 farming properties, as well as providing an important link between Kernot and Krowera.

The shire recommended that the road is restored to reduce the risk that property access is cut-off in the event of a future landslide.

'Repairs are required to be made as soon as practical before the wetter winter months. The disaster recovery funding application process is complex and requires considerable evidence and documentation to be successful,' shire documents highlighted.

'Whilst the Council's application is assessed and considering the possibility that whole or part funding is not secured, Council's own funding is required to be used to progress the repairs in a timely manner.'

'In the event this project does not receive government support, Council will need to manage the funding gap through future capital budget cycles.'

The Energy Innovation Co-operative Ltd supports community groups in Gippsland to install renewable energy and undertake energy efficiency measures, helping them cut power bills and put the savings into their primary activities. Community groups can apply for interest-free loans to fund solar panels, solar hot water or energy efficiency measures. As these interest-free loans are repaid from energy savings the funds are lent out again to fund the next project.

Foster Pool Association received a 3 year interest-free loan of $20,000 from our Southern CORE fund to install solar thermal heating at the Foster Swimming Pool. Fully Repaid

Grantville Recreation Reserve Committee is a volunteer run community group that supports many local groups such as the CFA and SES. The EI Co-op obtained a $5,000 Bass Coast Council Community Grant to help pay for installation. A donation from the Southern CORE fund paid for online system monitoring. Grant Obtained

Phillip Island Early Learning Centre was given in-kind support to install a 30kW solar system to reduce running costs of the building and to display information about the solar energy production as part of the children's environment and sustainability early learning. Funding was provided by Pick My Project. Grant Obtained

Bass Recreation Reserve received an interest-free loan of $15,000 from our Southern Core Fund to repair the roof and install solar panels. A donation from the Andrews Foundation helped make this project possible. Being Repaid

Yinnar Artists Resource Collective received an interest-free loan of $11,000 from our Southern Core Fund in March 2020 for the installation of solar panels. We are very grateful to the Andrews Foundation for their donation which helped make this project possible. Being Repaid Dalyston Football Netball Club asked for help to fund the installation of solar panels to reduce their energy costs. Energy and utility bills have a massive impact on the sustainability of community sporting clubs. The New Energy Jobs Fund grant has helped the club move towards a clean energy future.

Traralgon Neighbourhood Learning House: A New Energy Jobs grant application for $52,900 to install 32kW of solar panels and 22 kW/hr of batteries was successful. The "energy literacy" classes have helped reduce costs for users of one of the busiest neighbourhood houses in Victoria.

Kerb renewal to commence

BASS Coast Shire is set to commence kerb renewal and associated works on Bruce Street Inverloch in March 2023.

The project is expected to cost approximately $160,000 and will be funded through the Council's adopted Capital Works Kerb Renewal Program 2022/23.

Super Paving Vic Pty Ltd has been appointed as the contractor through the annual supply contract process.

The works will involve the removal and installation of about 300 metres of barrier kerb and drainage lines on the south and northeast side of the road, including some laybacks into driveways.

The reconstruction of road pavement one metre in front of the new sections of kerb and channel will also be carried out, including asphalt surfacing.

As part of these works, new concrete may be placed through landowner's driveways. Access to properties will be restricted for a four-day period following the pouring of the concrete kerb to allow it to set properly before any vehicles can use their driveway. Appropriate traffic and pedestrian control measures will be implemented onsite during these works.

The project is expected to be completed in late April 2023, subject to favourable weather, contractor availability and material supply.

Kongwak works

BASS Coast Shire has also announced the start of road pavement renewal works along Stewarts Road, Kongwak.

The work will extend 800m from the Inverloch Kongwak Road intersection to the Scotts Estate Road intersection.

Council has appointed Stabilised Pavements of Australia Pty Ltd and SR Excavations Pty Ltd.

The total project cost is in the order of $450,000, which is equally funded through Bass Coast Shire Council's and South Gippsland Shire Council's adopted Capital Works Programs.

This project is scheduled to start in March 2023 and is expected to be completed in mid-April 2023, subject to favourable weather, contractor availability and material supply.

What to expect:

- Roadside Drainage works
- Over 800m of road pavement renewal by stabilising the existing road pavement
- Road sealing works
- Line Marking

Changes in traffic movements will include a road closure, a lane closure controlled by traffic controllers/traffic lights, and a 40 km/hr worksite speed restriction. Outside of normal working hours, the road will be open to traffic with reasonable speed limits. Please follow all traffic control measures onsite.

Future is bright for Cape Paterson graduate

MORE than 500 Federation University Australia students celebrated their graduation at ceremonies in Gippsland and Berwick last week, including a Cape Paterson local.

The students were among more than 1400 across the University's campuses to mark the education milestone in front of family, friends and their classmates in March.

Among them was Master of Business Administration student and Cape Paterson resident, Alisha Gilliland, who delivered the graduate speech at the Gippsland ceremony, encouraging her classmates to make space for others who may not have a seat at the table.

Her MBA research project looking at diversity on not-for-profit boards supports Alisha's contribution to the not-for-profit sector in Gippsland, as both an employee and as a Board Director.

"I didn't anticipate the level of generosity of spirit and sharing of time and knowledge among the MBA cohort," she said of the MBA program.

"That continues now. We have a group of people across Gippsland who will be our network and I have really benefited from that personally and professionally."

$3.2 million for Nerrena bridge

One of the most significant grants, $3.232 million towards a $4.04 million project, will go to strengthening the two-lane bridge on Nerrena Road, Leongatha over the Tarwin River West Branch.

A feature of the strengthened structure will be a reinforced concrete composite deck overlay.

Senator Raff Ciccone, Deputy Government Whip in the Senate said bridges were vital infrastructure across Victoria providing critical access to markets and for locals to family, friends and services.

Happiness was key Ruth's life

RUTH Milkins, whose incredible life spanned almost a century, saw her survive a shocking attack from the 'Brownout Strangler' during her time in the army.

The late Ruth Milkins was a resident of Rose Lodge and during 2021, was celebrated by the state government's 'Recognising senior Victorians' initiative.

This is her story when she spoke with the Sentinel-Times during 2021.

Born in 1923 and raised in Numurka by a farming couple, Ruth and most of her family gave their service during World War Two.

"You felt like you were doing something for your country," she said at the time.

"I had a brother in the Air Force, another in the Army, and my sister was in the Army.

"She was a Lieutenant because she was a nurse.

"People don't understand today but when the War started, Australia had nothing and I mean really nothing."

Ruth served in the Australian Women's Army for four years and was initially "shocked" at how basic the conditions were.

"We joined up in Shepparton and I got my name on an honour role, and we were taken by train to Spencer Street and gathered up as a group and from then on, belonged to the Army," she said.

"There was no division in the toilet facilities and showers were the same."

During her time, Ruth reached the rank of Lance Corporal but was trauma-tised after her experience with American GI Edward Joseph Leonski, known as the Brownout Strangler.

While going on duty, Ruth was attacked after getting off a tram at Fawkner Park and was being strangled.

Fortunately, a male officer was nearby and turned around when she screamed and the attacker fled.

After the War, Ruth went back to Shepparton and married.

"In those days, of course, it's nothing like it is today, and I'm glad it's improved but we just came out of the services and my brothers too, and you were just expected to pick up life as if you hadn't been away," she said.

Years later however, Ruth would eventually meet her dream husband, Allan Milkins and they both moved to Wonthaggi.

"When Allan passed away, I managed but I had a couple of heart attacks and strokes, but I'm as healthy as a fish," she said.

"I always say this, if you can be happy, your body is happy, your mind has got a lot to do with that.

"Of course, we were brought up very basic and our main thing in life was always integrity.

"I'm just so happy I have a Christian faith; it does carry you through."

Ruth's family noted she loved getting involved with activities at Rose Lodge including knitting baby clothes and rugs to singing in the choir Church services.

Laughs all the way with Offshore's Aussie play

PHILLIP Island's Offshore Theatre opened its first production in the new performing arts centre at Newhaven College at the weekend, and it was a cracker.

Just about everyone gets insulted in this play 'Australians All' by talented Aussie playwright, actor and writer Jonathan Biggins, and it's laughs all the way with many of the best lines delivered in fine style by experienced local actor, Ashley Reed.

He said plenty of stuff you wouldn't have got away with in 2012, when the play from Biggins' own experience on a local Australia Day committee was satirised, let alone a decade or so later when the familiar themes of climate change, multiculturalism, an Indigenous voice to parliament, disability issues and more have marched on.

But it provided pause for a reality check all the same.

Early in the play, 'Wally' (played by Reed), a 55-plus, local builder and small-scale developer, had the quick retort for 'Helen' (played by Remi D'Agostin), the 35-year-old, local Greens' councillor, and a relative new arrival to the shire from the state capital.

Simon Furniss as the Mayor of the Coriole Shire and his deputy Brian played by Chris White set about organising a debacle of an Australia Day celebration.

"Sorry I'm late," said Helen as she breezed in after keeping everyone waiting for the committee meeting to start in a cold, old scout hall.

"Pity you didn't have an engine in that car or you mightn't have been," said Wally.

"It's got two, actually, it's a hybrid," said Helen.

Everyone established their characters quickly, Simon Furniss as the Mayor of Coriole Shire and pre-selection candidate for the Liberal Party, Chris White as his deputy, Julie Thomas as Maree, president of the local Country Women's Association branch and Rui Mei Jian as the Australian-born Vietnamese primary school teacher.

They were all members of the Australia Day Organising Committee and they brought their prejudices and problems with them.

Predictably, their Australia Day event was an absolute debacle, as described by the mayor at the end of the play, with plenty of the dialogue and situations all too reminiscent of local government politics locally.

If you want some irreverent fun, and a damn good laugh, don't miss Offshore Theatre's play in the new Blackbox Theatre in the performing arts building at Newhaven College.

With its excellent audio and production facilities, together with a star turn in its own right, the electronically operated, retractable seating for 140 people, it was the ideal venue for this delightful production.

It's a pity the shire's decision makers didn't see these seats and a facility like this in action before spending $30 million on the Cowes Community Cultural Centre - we could have saved $25 million or more for other much-needed facilities.

Sentinel-Times COMMENT

Carn the umpires!

IT'S a staggered start to the local football season with the Gippsland League and the Ellinbank League having a full round of matches, only one West Gippsland League game and Mid Gippsland not kicking off until Saturday, April 22.

It's probably because schools don't go back for Term 2 until Monday, April 24, so good on them for looking after their kids and their families.

But it's an exciting time of the year for country communities with everyone back around their clubs enjoying the fun and fitness, and the rest of the great benefits of belonging to a club and chasing shared goals.

Good luck to everyone for a great season and good on all those business that support the local football and netball clubs, they deserve your support.

But we're giving our biggest shout out to the men and women who put their hands up to umpire our football and netball games, many of them paid but still a significant number volunteering to help their clubs and their teams.

The complexity added to the rules, especially the football, some of it in response to protecting the head and other rules trying to make it a fairer contest, have made it much more challenging for the umpires and we need to be backing off on our criticism of the men and women in white across the board.

Fortunately in South Gippsland, we enjoy the services of one of the best football umpiring panels around, certainly the best in Gippsland anyway, and we love the way they go about it.

Some leagues are trialling a 'white card' initiative to try to stop, especially club officials, from criticising the umpires but that seems to be adding another level of complexity to what the umpires have to do. We don't need that here.

But what we do need is a positive attitude to the role umpires play in our great games. If you must add in an "oh, come on umpire" every now and then, be prepared to give equal measure to "good decision ump!"

Now on with season 2023 and good luck to everyone.

Disappointment over cartoon

I found the cartoon in last week's (March 21) publication extremely disappointing.

The Sentinel Times is a major public information source in the local community.

It has a responsibility to provide as objective an analysis and perspective on key social issues as is possible.

And there are very few, if any more important issues that that of climate change and the impact it is already having on millions of people and potentially all people.

While we still have people, for various reasons, deliberately misinforming the public about this issue, the scientific findings on this issue are as conclusive as they can be in any scientific undertaking.

The cartoon would have been more accurate if the caption read "They told us that burning fossil fuels would have no impact on our lives".

I find it difficult to understand just who the Sentinel Times are appealing to in promoting the views represented by this cartoon and just whose interests they are focussed on representing in the local community.

Peter Allitt, Cape Paterson

Cartoon by Glenn 'Grobb' Robinson.

Get on with the job

Last week our community successfully demonstrated that when the silent majority find their voice and take action, they can change outcomes at council.

The decision by councillors to accept the community's rejection of option 1 is certainly a welcome first step.

However, more steps are needed to get this council to extend the very successful option 2 on to Goroke St.

Step 1 requires sincere, genuine, and total transparency and honesty about communications between Bass Coast Shire Council and DEECA.

Council must publish all communications regarding past and future applications for stage 3b. Unfortunately it is most unlikely that council will allow this transparency to the community.

Step 2 requires councillors to act in accordance with the overwhelming majority who support the continuation of option 2 to Goroke St.

Unfortunately those councillors who are aligned with the conservation society will be resistant to the will of the community, and I believe that they will be doing their utmost to kill off option 2.

Hopefully five councillors understand the need for the final stage of the path to be properly constructed as per stage 3a, and that these councillors accept that it is will of the majority for that to happen.

Having delayed construction for years, some at council are now attempting to convince the community that is all DEECA's fault. If it is true that DEECA says no, then those councillors who are sensible and pragmatic about balancing essential community infrastructure with environmental sensitivity will go into bat against DEECA.

Step 3 requires ongoing community effort to ensure that all nine councillors understand that option 2 is what the community expects council to construct for the final stage of the path.

The evidence delivered by the experts is that the path does not pose a risk to the environment. Council accepted the evidence in 2019 and presented it to the community.

Then as now, the community gave its clear overwhelming verdict in favour of option 2.

This council should stop wasting more ratepayer money, and just get on with the job that was agreed in 2019.

Lighting upgrade program closed

The State Government's Victorian Energy Upgrades (VEU) lighting upgrade program has now closed.

I am aware that over the past few years scammers have taken advantage of this legitimate program to gain personal details by posing as representatives of the state government and door knocking or pestering households with frequent calls resulting in much confusion.

With the program now closed, you can be assured that any calls or offers you receive offering to upgrade the lighting in your home are not legitimate and should be reported to Scamwatch at www.scamwatch.gov.au/report-a-scam.

Other energy saving programs are still available under the VEU including upgrading your shower head to a water-saving one. If you receive calls about this offer, you can be assured that any legitimate accredited provider would not claim to be from the state government and will happily provide you with the name of the business they are calling from. They will also not call you if your number is on the Do Not Call Register.

For more information on the programs available or to find a local accredited provider visit <https://www.energy.vic.gov.au/for-households/victorian-energy-upgrades-for-households>.

Proud leaders for Bass Valley Primary

THE 2023 student leaders at Bass Valley Primary School were presented with their badges recently by member for Bass, Jordan Crugnale, at a recent assembly held in front of students, staff, parents and friends.

Bus Leaders, Sustainability Captains, STEAM Captains and Sports Captains.

School principal Sharon King said she was, "excited by all the opportunities that the school leaders at our school get to experience, from sporting and STEAM programs, to assisting with our school's sustainability centre, wetlands, and day to day school tasks for students to showcase their leadership skills for our entire community to benefit from."

Harmony Day celebrated at San Remo Primary School

HARMONY Day was celebrated at San Remo Primary School last Tuesday, March 21.

Students and staff dressed in a splash of orange and participated in activities that focused on inclusiveness, respect and a sense of belonging for everyone.

The school's Student Support Leaders ran inclusive games and activities in the yard at recess and lunchtime, with music playing and students working together.

Activities included dodge ball, parachute games and a scavenger hunt. Teachers planned Harmony Day activities in their classroom where there was collaboration, togetherness and understanding of the multiculturalism of our local community and beyond.

Lauren Hamer, Disability Inclusion and Wellbeing Leader at San Remo Primary School said, "Harmony Day is a great opportunity for us to celebrate who we are and what we stand for, ensuring everyone feels a sense of belonging, within our school and community."

RIGHT: The whole school came together to celebrate 'Everyone Belongs'.

Proudly marking Harmony Week

LAST week at St Joseph's school in Korumburra, the students celebrated Harmony Week with a big splash of orange around the school.

Harmony Week, which ran from March 20-26, is a special time to celebrate multiculturalism in our country and to reflect on successful integration of people from everywhere in our world into our communities.

Australia is one of the most successful multicultural countries in the world and the students took time to celebrate this and to work out how we can live in harmony.

This year's theme for Harmony Week was "Everybody Belongs".

The students participated in a range of activities within their classrooms to build their understanding of harmony as well as contributing to the amazing display at the front of the school which read "St Joseph's - Flying Together In Harmony".

This slogan also reflected the schoolwide values of being respectful, responsible and caring at all time.

RIGHT: Foundation and Grade 1 students Levi, Massimo, Deni, Ava, Rupert, Arianna, Alexander, Kye, Oliver and Mason along with staff member Belinda Whiteside wear a touch of orange in support of an inclusive Australia.

Every dollar really does help

THERE is no such thing as a free education.

In 2022 Victoria marked 150 years of public education. An educational system that in 1872 became free, secular and compulsory under the Education Act 1872 in Victoria.

Contrary to popular belief public school education is far from free for parents/carers or schools.

Research by Futurity Investment Group in January found a child starting Government primary school in 2023 would cost $368 in school fees and $6725 in ancillary costs such as uniforms, outside tuition and electronic devices.

Fortunately, ancillary costs appear to be less in regional areas but there is no denying it is far from free.

Locally, a majority of schools have fresh new supplies ready for students as they step inside the classroom, however, this comes at a cost and with limited funds is part of what forms the voluntary contribution that is sent out to families at the beginning of the year.

And whilst all contributions are voluntary, the ongoing support from families helps ease the burden on the school and directly impacts the students.

"The Department has a clear policy on parent payments, which states that all contributions must be voluntary," a spokesperson for Department of Education stated.

"Voluntary parent payments support the enrichment of a student's educational experience and allow schools to offer a range of programs and opportunities to their students beyond the requirements of the curriculum.

"Schools can invite parents to make a voluntary financial contribution to support the delivery of the curriculum, purchase extra-curricular items and activities, and purchase educational items to own.

"Requests for parent payments must be approved by the school council, uploaded onto the school website and communicated to parents for transparency."

Figures are also not just plucked from the air with numbers directly broken down by administration staff as to the expenses occurred. In short, recouping costs.

And whilst voluntary contributions are directly covering costs spent on a child including stationery, sports/music/science/art equipment amongst other things, it can mean schools can allocate other monies to other streams, for example, playground equipment improvements.

"Under the Department's Parent Payments Policy, all Victorian government schools are required to clearly explain how financial contributions will be spent when making a request," the spokesperson added.

And for those who may not be in a position to make a voluntary contribution but want to speak with your schools administration team. It may be a hard topic to bring up, but the school may have some alternative suggestions.

"All contributions are voluntary, and no child can be disadvantaged or refused instruction in the standard Victorian curriculum if voluntary financial contributions are not made."

YOUR LOCAL GUIDE TO ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Art for food's sake!

LIFE can take a turn for the worst for any of us.

Imagine the growing heart break and despair of contemplating a Christmas without enough food to feed your two young kids. Not even the basics.

Now imagine a knock at your door and you open it to find two people you've never met carrying a box each.

These boxes are for you and your family and you open them to find enough food to get you through...and a couple of extras for the kids.

While we might just be able to imagine it, for some people it is all too real.

Karin Ellis, local textiles artist and foodie had just that experience when she was a young mother living up in Dollar.

The knock at the door came from a local community organisation that helped those in need of a helping hand.

Karin has always remembered their kindness and it is this that prompted her and her husband, artist Ken Griffiths, to donate his magnificent painting "Hippeastrums" to be raffled to raise money for the Inverloch Art Show being held over Easter this year.

Tickets for the raffle are available from ArtSpace Gallery in Wonthaggi and at the door at the Art Show.

The Inverloch Art Show is the signature fundraising event for the Bass Coast Health Artist Ken Griffiths is donating his magnificent painting "Hippeastrums" to be raffled to raise money for the Inverloch Art Show being held over Easter this year.

Inverloch Art Show Auxiliary.

The auxiliary raises these essential funds to buy food boxes for local families and individuals experiencing short term difficulties. The food boxes are distributed by Bass Coast Health.

The Inverloch Art Show includes the exhibition and sale of artworks by local, regional and metropolitan artists.

The art covers contemporary and traditional styles in a variety of mediums and prizes are awarded in different categories.

There is also an overall prize for the best in show, the winner of which will receive $2000 and be awarded The Blair Art Prize. This year is the inaugural awarding of this prize which has been created to acknowledge the contribution of two significant, regular sponsors of the event, Lyne and the late Blair Hodges.

The opening night for the Art Show, at which prize winners will be announced, is Friday, April 7, 7pm to 9pm and everyone is welcome to attend.

The show is held in the Stadium at the back of The Inverloch Hub on the corner of ABeckett and Reilly Streets, Inverloch.

Bring your friends along and help us raise money to help others through tough times.

Opening dates and times:

- Good Friday April 7, to Easter Monday, April 10, 10am to 4pm.

- Tuesday, April 11, 10am to 12noon when raffles are drawn and the People's Choice Prize will be drawn.

A second life for your treasures

THE next Fixit Café Wonthaggi on April 16, promises to be super busy with the return of Graeme, our clock fixer, at least two fabric fixers, two electrical specialists, and the support of the Wonthaggi Men's Shed. Registering your repair at 5672 3731, Wonthaggi Neighbourhood Centre, will ensure a 30 minute spot with a fixer between 11 and 1pm. This month some of the items fixed or examined included a radio, a Moulinex handle, a spade, clothes, and a pair of loppers. All these things are given a second life reducing the load going to landfill.

There is no charge for this service but a donation, if possible, helps with running costs. Clock repairs may incur a fee if a lot of work is needed.

If you have a fixing skill or can help out as a volunteer welcoming people and helping with paperwork why not leave your details with the staff at Mitchell House (number above).

This is a joint activity between the Wonthaggi Neighbourhood Centre and the Wonthaggi Men's Shed and can be found at the Harvest Centre, off the Big W car park, at the back of the Goods Shed.

SOUTH GIPPSLAND UMPIRES ASSOCIATION

Umpire numbers never looked better

THE South Gippsland Umpires Association are back in business with a huge boost in recruits this season.

Director of umpiring Gary Scholz said they were thrilled with the number of members they have.

He highlighted in previous years there would be roughly 20 members show up for training, but now they were seeing almost 60.

"We picked up two new goalies, which is probably our weakest link at the moment so we're trying to pick up a few more," he said at the association's launch last week.

"We've had more boundary and field (umpires) come in, so overall it's been really positive."

They've also got a healthy range of members from all age groups and genders.

"We had a lot of kids a couple of years ago that were around 12 years old, and we struggled with that because they were almost too small to get out there.

"But now they've stuck around and they're bigger and it makes a big difference and has a huge benefit.

"They're next year's development kids and they become our really good, solid umpires."

The association covers all of the West Gippsland League as well as Wonthaggi and Leongatha in the Gippsland League.

"There's not many leagues that cover this size," he said.

"Since we've taken on West Gippsland I think it's been a real leg up for our panel but we're enjoying the difference."

AUSKICK

NAB Auskick program is for everyone!

GIRLS came to Leongatha recently from all over South Gippsland to develop their skills and their love for footy at the AFL All Girls Footy4Fun event.

Girls have worked on a range of skills in a fun and supportive environment with the expertise of coaches Mackenzie Findlay and Lisa Guastella.

They've practiced their handballing, got "stuck in the mud", and finessed their drop punts. There's even been the odd torpedo.

For Auskickers of all genders, Leongatha's NAB AFL Auskick season is open for registrations.

Sessions run on Friday nights 5pm-6pm from April 28, throughout term 2.

Leongatha's Friday night Auskick is a community event and a great way to have some fun with other families.

Tea for the kids is sorted as Leongatha Auskickers

get a free sausage in bread, and there's a canteen open with a range of food on offer.

Families get on the field together, celebrating those footy firsts with their Auskickers.

It's super easy to help out, even if you're not familiar with footy. Parents can come and have a kick or help out in the canteen or with the barbie.

NAB AFL Auskick is the best way to introduce kids to the great game of Aussie Rules football. It's all about fun, getting hands on the ball and being constantly involved in exciting activities.

To register for the All Girls Auskick Program or for the Leongatha NAB AFL Auskick season, visit playhq.com and search Leongatha, or contact Gen Anderson 0424 964 335.

Parrots ready for the challenge

LEONGATHA is prepared for the challenges ahead, with every club determined to topple last season's unbeaten premier.

The Parrots have recruited strongly and expect to further boost their stocks with the addition of up-and-coming players emerging from the club's Under 18 ranks.

Jenson Garnham arrives from Inverloch Kongwak, with the 19-year-old medium-sized forward also capable of playing in a key position.

Classy young mid-sized forward Darcy Berryman joins the Parrots from Fish Creek, with coach Trent McMicking confident he can also contribute through the midfield.

The trio of Jesse Burns, Ty Hall and Luke Marshman are all expected to see senior action after coming up through the clubs Under 18s, with McMicking describing them as "outside running machines".

Key position player Guy Dickson is at home at either end of the ground and brings his VFL experience representing Port Melbourne to his role as a playing assistant coach for the senior side.

Brad Hutchinson, Stuart Wigney, Matt Davies and Aaron Heppell are the other members of McMicking's senior coaching group.

Jack Ginnane will enhance the Parrots' premiership line up when he returns in round 3 from suspension, adding to the side's forward potency.

An extraordinary seven of Leongatha's talented young brigade are in line for Gippsland Power action this season.

Star and committed team man Tom Marriott is certain to retain the captaincy.

Key position player Matt Willcocks is the key departure, heading back to Vermont, while a few other players have left for more senior opportunities elsewhere.

Rhett Kelly will again coach

Leongatha's Reserves, which like the Parrots' seniors hoisted a premiership cup in 2022.

While there's plenty of excitement in senior ranks, McMicking said the club's youngsters have grabbed his attention during the off-season, with between 50 and 60 kids training across the under 16s and under 18s groups.

On the netball front, Leongatha is focused on continued improvement, with little change to the A Grade squad that made last year's grand final.

However, attacking player Lara Stefani arrives from Fish Creek, with experienced Parrot Kate Browne returning from injury.

Kathy Reid assumes the A Grade coaching position and will also coach the B Grade side along with assistant Shelley Fixter.

Georgia Higgins is coaching C Grade, Kate Sperling Under 17s, Stacey Giliam Under 15s and Alicia Marshman Under 13s.

The Parrots participated in the preseason Voyage Cup, meeting some high-quality opposition.

Wil Dawson trains with the Under 18 Parrots but is likely to experience more action in the seniors after impressing when given opportunities last year. A05_1223

Leongatha players got in some handy preparation for this year's competition during the Voyage Netball Preseason Cup.

Power sharpens up for the season against Devon Meadows. A12_1223

Wonthaggi and Devon Meadows battle for the Sherrin. A13_1223

Unity set to drive Wonthaggi forward

WONTHAGGI pushed eventual undefeated premier Leongatha to the brink in last year's finals and should feature prominently again in season 2023.

Power's backline coach and football director Stuart Gilmour said that match proved to the club its game style can achieve the desired success, believing that the closeness of the group and how well it has bonded over preseason can make the difference.

Players are enjoying mixing socially and on the track with training regularly attracting around 40 people.

A couple of high-class additions have arrived at Wonthaggi Recreation Reserve.

Former Collingwood player Isaac Chugg comes straight from the AFL system.

The elite runner brings good decision making and is earmarked for an outside midfield or back flank role, but is able to win a contested footy and can apply tackling pressure when the opposition has the ball.

In addition to his running and ability to constructively drive Wonthaggi into attack, Chugg is a stand-out overhead mark.

The athletic Cooper McInnes is another addition for Power, arriving from Tarwin, for which he booted 71 goals in 18 games last season.

Young talent Dean McRae was expected to fill a key defensive post, being 6'3 and a strong overhead mark, but has headed to Kilcunda Bass. He'll be joined at the Panthers by other departing Wonthaggi players Lachie Burns and Steven Scott.

Gilmour said Burns' move was motivated by the desire for more senior opportunities, with the midfielder having a taste of senior action in Power's final home and away game last season after being a consistently strong contributor at Reserves level.

The football director reflected on the departure of lockdown backman Scott, who played 21 senior games for Power in 2022, but is confident Wonthaggi has the depth and emerging talent to cover his absence.

"We're going to miss him but it's opened up an opportunity for a younger kid," Gilmour said, with Brodie Mabilia well qualified to take on the responsibility.

The 6'2 (188cm) player returns from the NAB program to Wonthaggi where he played his junior footy, having missed out on being drafted to the AFL after suffering an ACL injury.

All up, eight top aged under 18 Wonthaggi players have come into the senior group and are expected to push for selection this year.

Gilmour praised the senior players at the club, saying they are making the up-and-coming young group feel welcome.

He noted players in their early twenties have taken the reins this preseason, driving an enthusiastic outlook across the squad.

Unsurprisingly, star player and dedicated team man Aiden Lindsay continues as Wonthaggi's captain.

Former Collingwood pair and good mates Jarryd Blair and Tristan Francis are still running the show, with Blair remaining as senior coach and Francis his assistant.

Gilmour feels that after a full season last year under Blair and Francis, Power players have a strong grip on what is required.

"People get the way we want to play the game and it's really shown out preseason," he said.

Reserves coach Darren Brown is new to that responsibility but has long coached juniors at the club.

Power's A Grade netball squad has undergone substantial change since last season with players leaving or unavailable for a variety of reasons.

Jess Blair takes charge as playing coach, with Kealey Lindsay assisting from the sidelines.

Netball operations manager Abby Tranter said the departures have created opportunities for B Graders to step up to the competition's top level.

Midcourter Bella Anderson and defender Cassidy Bowman are a couple of players likely to seize that chance.

Tall athletic defender Mia Plenkovich, who won the club's 2022 Under 17 Best & Fairest and placed third in the league for that age group is expected to step up to A Grade.

Bec Farrell has arrived from Trafalgar and will coach B Grade, with Whitney Anderson and Olivia Gilmour in charge of C Grade, Chelsea Bowman coaching Under 17s, Aimee Tessari and Courtney Brann Under 15s and Ange Jobe Under 13s.

Chelsea Bowman looks for an option during Wonthaggi training; she will combine playing with coaching Power's Under 17 side.

DALYSTON FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

Good vibes at Daly as Pies eye 2023

DALYSTON are extremely enthused to sink their teeth into another season as they continue to climb the ranks of competitiveness on the footy field.

Hoping to lead the Magpies to new heights in 2023 will be incoming head coach Dean Wylie, a man who is very well familiar with the black and white, according to club president Andy Thomas.

"Dean has played over 200 games with us and another 100 with Wonthaggi so he's very experienced in terms of playing, but it'll be his first year as a senior coach," he said.

"Dean will be supported by Leigh Clifford, a three-time premiership coach at Beaconsfield."

Daly won just two games last season, although not from a lack of trying, they just failed to remain competitive for four quarters.

However, this breadth of experience in the coaches box, along with some handy re-recruiting has the 'Pies set to take a strong step up this season.

"We've picked up Jake Barry, Tyson Andrighetto, Mitch Davey, Zak Storry and Brayden Duve from Wonthaggi, Hayden McLean from Mitcham, Will Clarke from Barooga, Cooper Smith and Brayden Bowes," said Thomas.

"We think that the guys we've brought in this year will strengthen our list and we'll be a little bit more competitive."

Unfortunately, the Magpies' senior list has suffered a few departures with Adam and Musa Amin (Koo Wee Rup), Jack Paravicini, Jack Murray (Scoresby), Clay Tait (coaching St Marys), Kyle Wright (St Marys) and Luke Gheller (Wonthaggi) all leaving the club.

Thomas remained bullish about his 'Pies though.

"There's an enthusiasm through the club, a good vibe, hopefully we can maintain that and with the fitness regime they've been put through, be more competitive this year," he said.

"The game style will be hard tackling, fast running, we'll be fitter, we're not setting any huge goals for ourselves we just want to be stronger than we were last year."

On the courts, Dalyston is hoping to make a charge and reclaim their status as a formidable contender, under the reins of senior coach Alana McRae.

"They're going pretty well, they've got a couple of players returning, they should be a bit stronger together with the young girls, we had three or four from the under 17s play A grade last year," said Thomas.

"We're hoping they can step up and we'll be competitive again, we made finals in all but one grade of netball last season, so we're looking for the same thing this year."

Daly will regain Hannah McRae, Britt Thomas and Jarney Thomas back and look to improve on last season when they finished fourth and fell short in the finals.

"All we want to do throughout the club is to be competitive," said Thomas.

Dalyston will open their season against Koo Wee Rup under their new lights at the Dalyston Recreation Reserve on April 15.

Dalyston's juniors were keen to get some experience on the field recently.

Alana McRae (senior netball coach) and Dean Wylie (senior football coach) are looking forward to the 2023 season.

Hams takes the reins as IK look to contend again

INVERLOCH KONGWAK will be looking to contend once again in 2023, this time without their beloved long-time coach Ben Soumilas.

The Sea Eagles’ 2022 finals campaign was shockingly cut short by the Waragul Industrials in the Elimination Final and proved to be the 2017 premiership coach’s final game at the helm.

Soumilas gives up the role after close to ten seasons, leaving some extremely large shoes to fill, but incoming coach Tom Hams is confident he, and the new breed of Sea Eagles have what it takes.

“We’re lucky we’ve got a foundation that Soum has set over the years, but they’re big shoes to fill so we’ll be doing it as a collective which’ll help fill the large void he’s left behind,” he said.

“We’ve put a coaching group together with Leigh Cole, Lewis Rankin and myself.”

Cole comes with a wealth of football experience both in the city, and in the West Gippsland FNC, having come over from Korumburra Bena where he was the senior coach in 2022.

Rankin will double as co-captain alongside experienced forward Toby Mahoney, as well as assistant coach, helping Hams call the shots from field.

The coaching committee will take control of what is a relatively similar list, as IK retain much of their talented core of senior players. “We’ve picked up Tate Short, Lachie Crook and Nick Baltas, we’ve also picked up some local boys in Bailey Patterson (Korumburra) and Kairon Dorling (Fish Creek),” Hams said.

“They’ll compliment our list but we’re really looking for the development to come from within, we had our under 18s win the premiership last year so we’re putting a real focus in our crop of 18-20 year olds and getting growth out of them to help compliment all the older fellas.”

Gun defender Campbell McKenzie returns to the club alongside Jimmy Scott, while livewire young forward Jenson Garnham departs for Leongatha.

“There may be some tweaks, but we’ll play that IK brand of footy,” said Hams.

On the courts, the Sea Eagles claimed the top prize in 2022, and head coach Jaz Walker is keen to keep the improvement going.

“We’ve lost Taylah Smith and Rahni Mann and Asha Boyd is out after doing her knee in the Grand Final last year,” Walker said.

“So, a bit of a change up to our A grade side, but we’ll just be filling spots from within the club, no new recruits, our junior numbers are off the charts.”

With their club in a great place off the field, both coaches are just pumped for the season to begin and to achieve more success in the gold, white and blue.

“We’ll be looking to bring through some new players and aim number one is to establish a finals berth,” Walker said.

“There’s an amazing feel at the club at the moment and we’re all just excited to start playing,” said Hams.

IK will open their season when they host Nar Nar Goon in a huge Easter Saturday blockbuster at the Inverloch Recreation Reserve.

Inverloch Kongwak welcomed back gun defender Campbell McKenzie after he spent a year up north. He was lighting up the track in a recent intra club match.

The Sea Eagles being put through their paces by head coach Jaz Walker, they’ll look to defend their A grade premiership in 2023.

Panthers ready to pounce in 2023

KILCUNDA-BASS are rested, recruited, re-charged and ready to return to the top end of the ladder in 2023, after showing some promising signs last year.

Lee Rowe will go into his second year at the helm, after directing the Panthers to seven wins in his debut year with the club.

The Panthers were able to play some exciting footy in 2022, stringing a four win streak together in the middle section of the season to give Rowe and his men reward for hard work.

Although, they still found themselves in the bottom four, finishing ninth, Rowe is confident this season will be different though and he sees his side taking that leap back into finals contention.

“Preseason has been super, chalk and cheese compared to last year as far as numbers go, we’ve had 30 minimum each night, we started a bit earlier since we felt we’ve got to make up a bit on our competition,” he said.

“We’re definitely going to be a bit faster with our movement, I think there’s going to be more belief this time around, we didn’t know what was going to transpire last year, coming from a long way back.”

Kilcunda-Bass drives forward against Poowong as the sides sharpen their skills for the 2023 season. A08_1323

“But the seven wins and losing a few by a small margin added a bit of belief and then you get some new blokes into the club, coming from winning cultures, we hope we can hit the ground running and improve more.”

As Rowe mentioned, the Panthers have made a strong splash in the recruiting department, adding Jayden Gee from The Basin along with Steve and Lochie Scott, Lachie Burns and Dean McRae from Wonthaggi.

They’ve also kept their list relatively similar too, only losing Ethan Watts who’s taken an opportunity at Somerville.

“We’ve bolstered our list but a lot of them have played together, I think we’re in a real tough spot, there’s a real back log in the middle order, there’s about five or six sides that only need to improve a little bit,” said Rowe.

“You can’t afford to drop the games you should win this year, so as much as we think we’ve improved a large amount, doesn’t mean you’re going straight into that top tier, we’re up for the fight, we’ve just got to believe in what we’re doing.”

Killy-Bass’ greatest improvement in 2023 will definitely be on the courts, with the return of their A grade side, thanks to incoming head coach Caity Stephens.

“It’s really healthy, we’ve recruited well, including Caity, the A grade squad is looking very strong,” said Rowe.

“I think they will be pretty competitive by all reports, they’ve been flat out at training, they’re up and about, it’s good to see, there’s a bit of hype around.”

Stephens has brought across a few friends, coming from the Narre Warren area and will look to get some wins on the board in the Panthers resurrected A grade side.

“It’d be nice for the netballers and footballers to be competitive, and I think, all in all, the club’s in a really good position on and off the field, so we’ll be there fighting,” Rowe said.

PHILLIP ISLAND FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

Competitiveness is on show as the Bulldogs look to impress during the pre-season. A03_1323

Pedersen to lead new breed of Bulldogs

PHILLIP ISLAND is set to begin their quest for revenge under new leadership in 2023, after they fell short on the season's final day last year and farewelled their legendary coach.

The Bulldogs charged into the 2022 Grand Final full of momentum after an overtime, after the siren win in the Preliminary Final, but the decider proved to be a much tougher outing, going down by 46 points in what was Beau Vernon's final game at the helm.

A two-time premiership coach, Vernon has been monumental for the red, white and blue, leaving a massive role to play, although the Doggies have a pretty good replacement option in former AFL gun Cameron Pedersen.

Pedersen will take on the roles of player-coach and captain as the Bulldogs begin life after Vernon and look to continue with the legacy and success-filled foundation he has left in their own new way.

Operations Manager Phil Bourke believes Pedersen and the Dogs can do just that.

"The quality of pre-season so far has been good, we're looking pretty strong all the way through, there'll be some changes in the game style, I think it'll be a bit freer in its form, there's certainly been an emphasis on more run and target game play," he said.

"We'll know where we're at after round four, we've got each of the other top five finishers from last year in the first four rounds, so if we're four-nil after round four we'll be happy."

"We're still aiming clearly for the top four or five, preferably in the top two if possible but we'll just have to wait and see."

Helping the Bulldogs tackle what is a brutal first four games will be returning stars Hayden Bruce, Daniel Pearce, Daniel Bourke and Noah Bee-Hickman, as well as recruits Trav Woodfield from Overton and Bryce Hindhaugh from Mount Evelyn.

Unfortunately, though, the Dogs have been hit with a couple of huge departures, with Zak Vernon jetting off to Queensland alongside Beau and former captain Jaymie Youle heading overseas.

On the courts, the Islanders will be building off their strong foundations laid throughout the club in 2022, when their A grade side finished sixth in a tough competition, bowing out in the finals.

Christie Edwards will lead the club as coach for her second year, and will be focused on balancing out the first grade squad with young stars as well as new recruit Jaclyn Clarke from Nilma Darnum.

Edwards has run a strong pre-season program and this has Netball Operations manager Nazza O'Brien bullish about their chances in 2023.

"A clean sweep of the juniors would be nice, but even better would be to see our senior teams go one step further this year, we're excited for the season," said O'Brien.

Phillip Island will open their season with an Easter Saturday blockbuster at the Kennel, as they host Warragul in a rematch of last season's Preliminary Final epic.

KORUMBURA-BENA FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

The Korumburra Bena leadership group is looking forward to season 2023, with James Dunn, Jasper Macri, captain Matt Kennewell, vice captain Joel Cuman, and Jay and Zach Walker. A07_0823

Giants won't go down without a fight

UNDER new leadership both on and off the field, the Korumburra Bena Football Netball Club is looking to embark on a storied revival in 2023.

The club has a new committee, led by incoming president Ken Myers, as well as a new coaching team led by player coach Paul Fermanis who is looking forward to the challenge of his unexpected role.

Since arriving at the club last year as a recruit, Fermanis has already made himself into a club favourite and has made waves in improving the Giants culture.

His commitment to playing and coaching this year comes as a huge relief for the Giants, who have failed to maintain big recruits in the past.

The new coach has chosen a new look leadership group and has set strong goals to improve on their disappointing 2022 campaign.

In 2022, the Giants had just the single victory, and Fermanis is hopeful that tally can be boosted to at least four wins this year.

However, the main aim is to be more competitive for larger parts of games and to build a foundation for the future, around their local talent, according to Myers.

"Our numbers on the track have been good, we'll field a young, competitive side this year, and it'll be full of our local kids which is my aim moving forward," he said.

Fermanis said the young players at the club motivated him to seize the opportunity.

"It's an exciting group and that's why I was happy to take it on, and if they stick together for five or six years, that's a 100 or so senior games each and they'll all still be about mid-20s, that'll be dangerous," Fermanis said.

"They probably just needed someone who can relate to them onfield as a playing coach."

Despite losing defender Matt Lello and brothers Darcy and Jack Hargreaves to Murrumbidgee, along with Bailey Patterson to IK, Korumburra Bena has managed to keep morale high with some healthy numbers on the training track and at preseason club events.

Rhys Dixon is one of those lifting numbers and experience, with the talented goal kicker returning from Stony Creek, TJ Loughridge has also signed on, coming over from Poowong, while the talented Tyson Findlay makes his way over from MDU.

Tyson Findlay will boost the senior playing ranks and assume an assistant coaching role, arriving from Meeniyan.

"He's got a fair bit of knowledge and talent about him and he's a great addition to Paul," said Myers.

Myers was also bullish about the progress his young Giants side will achieve in 2023.

"They hit all their small goals Paul set for them so far, so there's been some really positive signs, teams can expect a good hard-fought battle, our kids and our team won't back down at all, we're not going to lay down," he said.

On the netball side, Korumburra Bena will be hoping they can make some progress themselves after finishing their 2022 A grade campaign outside the top six, missing the finals.

They'll welcome the knowledge of head coaching duo Ash Cuff and Gemma Dixon as well as new players Beth Derrick, Caitlin and Stace Fermanis and returning players Amy White, Jess Cook, Kerryn Gow and Louise McMeekin.

The Giants have a great mix of youth and experience to assist with their development.

Paul Fermanis and the new look Giants will make their 2023 debut on Saturday April 15 in Bunyip.

Week 2 - Sunday August 27
Grand Final - Sunday, Sept. 3

THE Breakers had a great finish to season 2022, which saw the team come from 4th to make the grand final on the back of two upset finals wins.

Coming so close to their second premiership the players have hit the ground running with a great pre-season well underway.

Training numbers have been strong with the majority of players returning from last season, bolstered by a mix of new, experienced and youth girls players joining the team this year.

However, the Breakers look to be without some key youngsters for the majority of the season. Tess Wingfield and Ahlee Penry along with new recruit Sienna Lane will play key roles for Gippsland Power, while Sunday Brisbane joins Grace Matser at Box Hill VFLW.

Having been instrumental in the Breakers midfield last year they are all set for big seasons.

The club welcomes back past players Tayla Stahl (Richmond AFLW) and Sophie Bolding (Box Hill VFLW), who have added a wealth of knowledge and experience to the group.

However, the team is still on the hunt for an experienced mentor to guide the leadership group and lead the team on match days. If you are interested contact President Ella Angarane 0438 722 639.

If you haven't seen the Breakers play yet, there will be plenty of great opportunities this year with a number of twilight home games scheduled following the Dalyston senior matches.

Another key date on the fixture is the clubs annual Pride Round match, which highlights and celebrates the diversity within the club and the broader community.

The season kicks off on Sunday, April 23, at home versus Devon Meadows.

STONY CREEK FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

Whole club approach guides Stony

STONY Creek is taking a whole-of-club approach, ensuring a welcoming environment for footballers and netballers, along with families and supporters.

In addition to training, a variety of social events have been held fostering camaraderie between everyone at the club.

"Football and netball coaches collaborated to run a successful boot camp in Sandy Point," ongoing playing senior coach Chris Verboon said.

"It's not just about a premiership in the ones, and you want to build something special from the ground up," he stressed.

It is hoped that achieving the desired club culture will pave the way for Stony Creek to field junior sides again in future.

While that hasn't been the case recently, Verboon is enthusiastic about talented young players who came through the club's juniors previously and have stuck with the Lions in senior ranks.

A couple of that young brigade,

Hayden Funnell and Anthony Dyke both showed promise through the midfield and up forward last season and are expected to continue developing in those roles.

Another, Sam Bright, is building his fitness along with his experience in the ruck at senior level and can be expected to advance in 2023 and beyond.

Tylah O'Connor also came through Stony Creek's juniors, playing most of his senior footy in the backline last season, with Verboon keen to try him in other positions this campaign.

Senior recruits are ball-winning midfielder and backman Mitch Rowe, experienced utility player Aidan Simmons and hard-nosed midfielder with great finishing skills Cody Loughridge.

Troy Shepherdson has joined the Lions as Verboon's assistant coach, a job he has performed at Poowong where he was Reserves coach and a senior assistant coach.

Bryce Rawson continues as Stony Creek's Reserves coach.

On the netball side of the club, Jeanette Brown has arrived from Foster and takes on A Grade coaching responsibilities.

She is likely to call on the services of a trio of exciting recruits.

One of them, Holly Monaghan, returns to the club where she played junior netball, after a few seasons of footy in Queensland.

"She's a strong defender and can play through midcourt and is quite tall," Brown said.

Shooter Melissa Blackshaw joins the Lions from Thorpdale.

"She's accurate, and a strong holder under the ring," Brown said.

Nilushika Nadee De Silva comes via Sri Lanka's Navy where she gained netball experience and her trademark fitness.

"She runs all day," Brown said of the versatile midcourter.

Kelsie Schelling will coach B Grade, Steph Magro C Grade, Kelly Johnson D Grade, Sophie Clarke Under 17s, and Sam Dyke Under 15s.

New Stony Creek assistant coach Troy Shepherdson and ongoing senior coach Chris Verboon are ready for the season.

MDU FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

New senior coach and influx of players for MDU

NATHAN Allen has arrived from Bunyip to take on the senior coaching role at MDU, doing so in a playing capacity, and will oversee proceedings from the midfield.

He has an influx of new players including brother Ash, who will be one of MDU's onfield assistant coaches, along with long-term MDU player Joel Sinclair.

Ash was also playing at Bunyip last season and can fill a key position, go through the midfield or occupy a flank.

Springvale Districts key forward Darren Sheen will be pulling on a different Demons jumper this year, being a new focal point as MDU heads forward.

Nathan Allen said little separates the club's nine new recruits, with all showing promise.

"I'm keen to see Sheen up forward, but all the other guys have shown good skills and running ability and we're keen to see them all out there," he said, indicating most of the new arrivals have the versatility to play where they are needed.

Along with the Allen brothers and Sheen, other arrivals are Ben Perry (Leongatha), Jye Celebrine (Korumburra-Bena), Jayden Deas (Crib Point), Ben Schroen (Hastings), and Billy Evers and Shaye Walsh from Labrador.

MDU has been getting healthy numbers on the track for its main training sessions, with between 30 and 40 attending.

The Demons new senior coach brings the experience of assistant coaching positions with Bunyip and Hampton Park.

Dale Furphy and Mark Lafferty will assist him from the bench.

Brenton Arnup will be this year's Reserves coach, with Gene VanderZalm again in charge of the Under 18s.

MDU is striving to improve on an eleventh-placed finish and 5-11 record in 2022.

"The Senior team hasn't played finals for some years, so with new recruits we hope that our Senior and Reserve teams can do that in season 2023," coach Allen said.

On the departure side, Tyson Findlay has headed to Korumburra-Bena, with Stephen Hawkins going to Devon Meadows.

MDU A Grade netballer Jasmin Friend continues her on court contribution, with the defender now also coaching the side.

The squad's composition has changed with players moving and one pregnant.

However, youngster Kirra Jones, third in last year's league B&F for A Grade is expected to continue her improvement.

15 & Under player Shari Harris should experience A Grade this year, with sisters Tahlia and Alahna Arnason to slot into MDU's top side, bringing their experience from basketball.

Jacq Turner will coach B Grade, Tarryn Boden and Rachel Cameron C Grade, Brooke Jones D Grade, Nat Rayson 17 & Under, Jodie Arnup 15 & Under, and Pete and Tillani Harris 13 & Under.

Premiership contention in Fish Creek's sights

FISH Creek backman Jarrod Walker steps into the senior coaching role, with support from onfield assistant Matt McGannon and non-playing assistant Kevin Barnes, while Anthony Wilson continues as Reserves coach.

"My 2023 expectation is to get back into finals and premiership contention," Walker said.

He is hopeful the senior side will have improved fortunes on the injury front, after over 40 players were used during last season.

While developing player Kai-za Dorling has departed, Fish Creek has a few new arrivals to boost its senior ranks.

Experienced player Harry Smith (Mt Eliza) brings leg speed and is expected to feature on a wing or across half forward.

Jarrod Livingstone has a good build and agility suited to a key position role at either end, but will also act as a development coach, having coached the St Mary's Under 18s in recent seasons, with the side reaching grand finals.

He'll work closely with the Under 18s, Reserves and senior players aged up to about 25.

Big bodied inside midfielder Roland De Biase is another handy acquisition, as is his former Yarram teammate David Coulthard, a tall fullback.

Improvement is also expected from the existing list, with Lachie Gale set to progress after spending most of last season shouldering senior duties in the ruck despite still being an Under 18s player at the time.

Already a strong contributor, half forward flanker and mid-fielder Sam McGannon appears destined for a big season.

Fish Creek's A Grade netballers look to build on last season's achievement of reaching the finals, with Jayde McGlead continuing as coach and hopeful of returning to court after missing most of last season due to a knee injury.

Past A Grade player Ange Marotta returns after a year off to resume a defensive post, while midcourter Elysia Shaw is unavailable and goal attack Lara Stefani has departed for Leon-gatha.

Maddi Carew continues as B Grade coach, with Amy Van't Hof arriving to coach C Grade and the club expecting to have a D Grade side this year to be coached by Rachel Roberts.

Ruby Lane (Under 17s co-coach), Maddi Carew (B Grade coach), Jayde McGlead (A Grade coach) and Ella Schauble (Under 17s co-coach) prepare for the season.

MIRBOO NORTH FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

Peter Mongta back in charge at Mirboo North

MIRBOO North premiership player and coach Peter Mongta is back at the club, again as senior coach.

He featured in the Tigers' 2006 and 2007 flag winning sides, coaching the latter.

Four-time premiership player for the club, Damien Turner, is continuing his onfield career, drawing on his vast experience in his new role as Mongta's assistant.

Another Mirboo North premiership player, Dom Pinneri will coach the Reserves, with the theme of success continuing at under 18s level.

Young Nick Cummaudo takes on coaching the Thirds after co-captaining the side's grand final triumph last year.

Mongta is confident the senior squad will return to finals in 2023, after missing them last season for the first time since 2003.

"The club has a good mix of players ranging from 18 to 22 years old, and some quality mature age players who will play key positions," he said.

Max Woodall is an example of the club's young talent, named in Gippsland Power's Under 16s final squad.

He's already tasted senior action at Mirboo North and is expected to play as a high half forward or on a wing when available for the Tigers this season.

Halfback and outside runner Jesse Chila is another young player likely to make an impact at senior level, as is halfback and winger Ethan Woodall.

In the slightly older age bracket, Taj Wilkins has had a fantastic preseason and is expected to mind opposition sides' tall forwards.

Local boy Jake Nash will pull on the Mirboo North jumper this season after a transfer from Trafalgar, playing through the midfield and up forward.

Darcy and Hayden Brock are other arrivals, with Darcy a versatile midfielder and forward.

Mongta is confident the strong finish to last season demonstrates the Tigers have a capable list.

Miki Hilliar steps into the A Grade netball coaching job after leading Mirboo North's B Grade side to last season's premiership.

The A Grade side fell just a goal short of Toora in the 2022 grand final.

Other netball coaches are Maddi Knowles 17 & Under, Jakobi Eden and Rachael Vansittart 15 & Under, Emma Evans and Christina Stoertebecker 13 & Under.

Recruit Darcy Brock is welcomed to Mirboo North by senior coach Peter Mongta.

MID GIPPSLAND LEAGUE

TARWIN FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

TOORA FOOTBALL NETBALL CLUB

Daniel Houston, Ben Ellen and recruit Morti Snooks are striving to better last year's preliminary final finish for Tarwin. A06_1123

Sharks have even more bite this year

TARWIN went from a 3-8 record in the incomplete 2021 campaign to a preliminary final last year, winning all but two home and away games to finish on top of the ladder.

Coach Troy Hemming expects his players to reap the benefits of last year's finals experience, noting about 13 of them hadn't previously tasted senior finals action.

While the Sharks lost to Yinnar in their 2022 preliminary final, their largely young list should be in good stead to deal with finals intensity this year.

Tarwin also gained finals experience at Reserves level, with the Sharks reaching the grand final.

A couple of familiar faces are among Tarwin's recruits this season, with Ricky O'Loughlin returning to the club and set to hold down a key position.

Tarwin boy Jordan Hill has played at Korumburra Bena and is returning to footy with the Sharks after time off due to injury, impressing Hemming at training.

"He hasn't missed a beat and his ball skills and fitness are building," Hemming said.

Tom Crocker arrives from Leongatha, keen for more opportunity at Senior level. "He's electric and knows where the goals are," the coach said.

Skilled midfielder Morti Snooks has previously played for Korumburra-Bena but his friendship with some of the boys at Tarwin has brought him there.

Hemming is delighted with his awareness around contests and stoppages, and while Snooks is renowned for his good nature, his boxing background suggests he can look after himself.

Cooper McInnes is a big loss for the Sharks, having kicked 71 goals for Tarwin last season but is keen to play a higher level of footy at Wonthaggi.

Wingman Nick Anderson has followed mates to Nyora, with midfielder Noah Bee-Hickman returning to Phillip Island.

On the coaching front, Jake Cochrane takes over the Reserves coaching position from Tom Giroud who has family responsibilities.

On the netball front, Amy Robertson remains A Grade coach, this time sharing the role with Marni Purvis.

Both will play, with Amy filling the centre or WD role and Marni GD or GK.

The Sharks took huge strides last year, winning six games after a few years without an A Grade win and have added further talent.

Ellie Bates (WA/GA) arrives from Wonthaggi, while Kate McCracken, formerly of Leongatha, will occupy a scoring role.

Laura Robins (Mirboo North) is expected to play WD or Centre.

Recruits Chotnyang and Majok Puok with coach Jack Weston.

Toora strives to build on netball and Reserves premierships

TOORA player Jack Weston has stepped back into the senior coaching role he occupied for three seasons from 2015 and will continue to hold down a spot in the mid-field.

He'll be supported by non-playing coaches Brett Mitchell and Nino Ditta, with Lukas Jenkins and Luke Anedda combining to coach the Reserves.

The Magpies appear likely to fly up the ladder after last season's bottom-placed finish, with strong recruiting.

Josh Toner returns to the club where he played his junior footy, having been part of a senior premiership and earning a club best and fairest during his time with Foster.

"He can play everywhere, and has helped raise training standards," Weston said.

The lack of a ruckman for much of last season presented a major challenge for Toora, with the recruitment of last year's Newborough grand final player Chris Gardiner set to address that need.

Majok and Chotnyang Puok bring excitement.

Majok has the size to play in the ruck but the athleticism to contribute strongly in the midfield, while Chotnyang is a goal kicker with pace and skill.

Another arrival, Jean Bezzene will create opportunity for Toora's outside runners with his ferocious attack on the Sherrin.

"He's an in-and-under midfielder and as tough as nails," Weston said of a player he expects will inspire his teammates to greater heights.

The senior coach also hopes to play alongside brother Brendan who won't always be available due to work commitments.

On the negative side, young developing midfielder Jake McFarland, who was third in last year's best and fairest, has returned to Yarram, while fellow midfielder Ryan Archer is off to Chelsea.

"As a coach, my minimum expectations are that our senior side becomes more competitive consistently in 2023," Weston said.

Kelsey Angwin and Hannah Weston are looking forward to overseeing Toora's A Grade netball side as it strives to match last season's premiership success.

His wife Hannah Weston, and last year's league best & fairest Kelsey Angwin continue to oversee Toora's A Grade netball side as it seeks to add to last year's premiership success.

The A grade squad appears likely to stick together, but Hannah outlined a possible challenge and how it might be overcome.

"Some departures in the lower grades have the potential to test the depth, but our juniors stepping into senior ranks will continue to develop," she said.

Lily McDonald, Tayah Jenkins and Charlotte Crawford are in that improving junior group.

Nicole Stone and Tara Hollier will jointly coach C grade, Alana Manders D grade, Jade Latham 17 & Under, Sarah Stone 15 & Under and Tara Hollier 13 & Under.

Tigers confident of improvement

WHILE Foster has done some re-cruiting during the offseason, coach Sam Davies is confident of improvement as the club's young players gain experience, with the Tigers looking to build on last year's narrow final loss to eventual premier Yinnar.

Oliver Callcott is expected to get more time in the midfield after playing on a wing last season, with another of the young brigade Jake Thornell set to feature as a key back after missing games with injury last campaign.

Younger players will also continue to get opportunities at senior level. "We continue to incorporate our juniors into our senior training to keep developing them in the hope there are some ready to play regular senior footy again this year," Davies said.

Willem Duursma and Jack Rathjen are in that group, with both likely to exhibit their skill and pace at senior level, perhaps on a wing.

While Foster premiership player Josh Toner has returned to his junior club Toora and forward and midfielder Billy Flavelle is another big loss, returning to Edithvale-Aspendale, a couple of arrivals are expected to become fixtures in the senior side.

Josh Dickerson will fill a key back position and can be swung forward, after a move from Stanhope.

James Morris will join him in the backline after transferring from Mordialloc.

On the coaching front, Davies will be assisted by Richard Johnston, with club veteran Nick Hume taking charge of the Reserves.

The latter is striving to establish a solid group that will play every week and form the core for success in the twos after a lack of such stability led to the side going winless last year.

Mitch Green continues to coach an Under 18s side that has changed little in composition since last season and should build on its 2022 finals experience.

The Tigers kick off their 2023 campaign in a standalone away clash against Morwell East.

Foster's director of netball Deb Allott is hopeful the Tigers can improve on last season's 11th placed A Grade finish.

"We'll keep building and bring some of our juniors through," Deb said.

Allrounder Meg McGlead is one young player likely to experience A Grade action after a couple of years off due to injury.

Another teenager, Meg Rathjen is an attacking player, likely to play more at the competition's top level this year.

Amanda Broidy continues as playing coach, bringing versatility to the side.

Renee Bauer will coach B Grade.

Foster Under 18s players hone their skills as the season approaches. A09_1223

Saints on the up in 2023

NYORA will be hungry to get right into the new season after finishing in the bottom end of the table a season ago.

The Saints have recruited well again and been hitting the track hard, again taking orders from head coach Dylan Heylen, with Jake Prosser and Matt Layton by his side.

Nyora won just the six games in 2022, seeing them finish ninth and miss out on the finals race, but Heylen is confident he'll see some improvement this season, and has his sights set on jumping up the ladder.

"We've done a harder preseason than normal; we had the guy that did our fitness component back in 2018 when we won the flag, do it again for us, we've done fitness stuff every night," he said.

"Hopefully we'll be a bit fitter than last year, and the rest of the competition which will give us a bit of a head start, we're hoping to play finals and to be in that mid-range, knocking on the door of finals,

"If we can get to playing finals footy that'd be a big win for us, we'll play a simplified game style, fast paced, run and gun sort of footy which will be complimented by our fitness, we won't be huge so it's going to be hit up and run and carry."

The Saints list will be boosted by the arrival of Nick Anderson (Tarwin), Connor Thompson, Josh Ryan, Finlay Cousins (Phillip Island) and Rhys Lylak and will again be led by Sam Gibson.

On the netball side, the Saints will be looking to improve on their 2022 campaign which saw them finish 10th on the table in the A grade division.

The Nyora squad will be recharged and revitalised and hope for a more positive season on the courts that will see them crack into the top five.

The Saints will open their season on the road when they travel to Poowong to take on the Magpies in Round 1 on Saturday April 1.

Magpies keen to fly higher

POOWONG are looking to put out another competitive season and knock on the door of serious contention in 2023, after they fell short a season ago.

The Magpies finished in fourth spot after an impressive home and away season in 2022, winning 12 games, but unfortunately brought their worst when it mattered, going down big in their Elimination Final with Ellinbank.

The 'Pies will be fiercely determined to get back to the postseason, this time under new head coach Rod Gundrill who comes to the club with a wealth of experience being involved in similar roles in the area, including at Wonthaggi.

Club president Ted Attenborough is positive about the direction his side is heading for the future.

"We've got a fairly young group, it'll be a lot younger than what we've had in the past, it gives some of our local young blokes and opportunity to step up and the blokes we've recruited are in the bottom age bracket, 25 and younger," he said.

"It'll be a new dynamic to the side with a new coach and everything, I'd expect us to be somewhere around the top of the middle order, in the top five or six, if we can advance on that I reckon we've done pretty well, and hopefully we can set a platform for the following year."

Attenborough also expects the Magpies to play with a bit more pace in 2023.

"I think Rod is looking to tweak our game style a little bit, move the ball a bit quicker, we've built our defence pretty well over the last couple of years, but the goal is to move the ball into the forward line a bit quicker, to give our forwards more of an opportunity one out."

The Poowong line up will look rather different than years gone by, with a class of recruits, including Joel Norton (Stony Creek) Damien Hansen, Levi Robinson and Hayden Smith (Phillip Island).

They will also be without a number of names including Jayden Sullivan and Pat Harmes (Deavon Meadows).

"We've had probably the most turnover of players we've had," said Attenborough.

On the courts, the Magpies will again be led by head coach Abbey Kelson, who's loving the positive feel around the club, as they look to build on their 2022 campaign that saw their A grade finish in 10th.

"It's great to see the whole football and netball club getting together in a combined pre-season and this year, we hope that the girls enjoy every aspect of netball; they get to socialise, have fun and get some wins on the table," she said.

Poowong welcome back players such as Sheldie De Kleuver, Tamara Loughridge, Moira Allen, Belle Grabham Andrews, Emily Jolly and welcome new recruits Heidi Burgess, Maddi Wilcox, Hollie Smith and Cayli Lomas.

The Magpies will open their season on Saturday April 1 at home against Nyora.

INVERLOCH
COMMUNITY HOUSE

IT'S BEEN a jammed packed month of March with a number of exciting activities still on the go before the end of term.

The Last of our Summer Sizzle barbecue is coming up on Friday, March 31.

As always, our barbecues come in a street food style with meat and vegetarian options. A pay as you feel event. Bass coast Shire Council Waste Services team will be there to say a hi and explain Councils bin system, give out our kerbside collection calendars and answer any questions.

Put a lid on it - gather those mismatched plastic storage containers/lids and bring them along to our barbecue. Place them in the buckets provided or find its match. From Systema, Décor, Snaplock and good old Tupperware, any plastic food storage items welcome. $1 per matched item 3:30 – 5:30pm

Also, at the barbecue we are excited to announce our Swap Your Best Dress. Here's how it will work:

Around 3pm come by the House with six of your best preloved garments (they don't have to be dresses they can be any garment in great pre loved condition), drop them off (preferably pressed and on hangers) to our friendly SYBD team. Receive tokens for your lovely items. Nip off to have something delicious at the BBQ while we make it all look pretty and organised.

Come back around 5pm and use your tokens to shop for your new preloved outfit. So much fun, so sustainable, so easy. It runs from 3pm–6pm. Gold Coin Donation. It all takes place on the Hub Foreground in Inverloch.

Pickleball was such a huge success we have stepped it up a level. Now on offer every Friday evening casual sessions 7-8pm in the Hub Stadium. Pickleball has been described as a combination of tennis, badminton, and ping pong. Played indoors (or outdoors) it is a racket/paddle sport where two or four players hit a perforated hollow plastic ball over a 36inch high net. It's a whole lot of fun and taking off, not only all over the world, but in Inverloch as well. Intrigued? Come down on Friday night and give it a go. There will be plenty of friendly enthusiasts on hand to help you learn. It's a great activity for all abilities from 12 years old and up. Please note all children under 18 years of age must be accompanied by an adult.

Term 1 program of activities will finish up on Friday, April 6. Our new program will be available in the coming weeks so keep an eye out on our website. Bookings for Term 2 will commence Monday, April 17. Until then, take care and hopefully we will see you around.

IF YOU run an entertainment venue, festival or outdoor music event, EPA has a new guide to help separate reasonable noise from sounds that annoy.

The improved system supports promoters and the ticket buying public, while continuing to work alongside local councils who deal with parking and the police who respond to complaints.

“A Person in White Fed Me”

Boy stuck under rubble miraculously survives earthquake in Turkey

By Rev. Charles Lazaro,
Wonthaggi Baptist Church

THESE were the words that captured my attention. This was reported on February 16, 2023, by ChurchPOP and a few others.

The report said:

“One incredible testimony moving across social media discusses the miraculous survival story of a five-year-old boy rescued 192 hours (8 days) after the earthquake. Upon questioning, authorities asked how he survived for so long. According to the French organization SOS Christians of the East, the boy said a man dressed in white provided him food and water and disappeared.”

The more I thought about this report, I remembered that people all over the world were praying to God to save people trapped under the rubble. I believe God answered those prayers and performed several miracles. This is one of them, a five-year-old alive after being buried under rubble for 8 days? How can a five-year-old survive for eight days without food and water? But the little boy's clear testimony revealed that a man dressed in white provided him with food and water. Now, that's a miracle!

Another great miracle will be celebrated shortly - on Sunday, April 9, of this year. Christians all over the world will be celebrating the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus from the grave. The gospel writers in the New Testament recorded this most important miracle of the Christian faith. The death, burial and resurrection of Jesus, still proves to the world that He was who He claimed He was.

If it wasn't for the resurrection of Jesus. His ministry on earth would have ended in defeat and disappointment.

Instead, more than 500 people saw Jesus over a period of 40 days after His resurrection. These people actually saw Him, touched Him, spoke to him, heard Him speak, and some even ate food with Him after His death and resurrection.

Jesus was victorious over sin, satan, hell, death and the grave, all because of His death, burial and physical resurrection to life.

This is truly the greatest miracle ever. This is why Jesus is the Saviour of the world. Let me encourage you to read for yourself the record of the wonderful and miraculous death, burial and resurrection of Jesus in all the four gospels in the Bible?

'Life's better with Burra': Peter Fort, Kelvin Trotman, Stewart Carson and Rebecca Cooper were deep in conversation at the Burra Foods exhibition stand on Friday as the Burra Foods team took time to catch up with suppliers.

The Evans Petroleum team were excited to be back on board for another year at Farm World catching up with their farming customers whilst providing information and promoting the different products available. Pictured: General Manager, Warren and Financial Officer, Dave. C13_1323

Huge crowds for Farm World

'HAPPY' the Holstein calf melted hearts at Farm World over the new-format three day event as the official mascot of Victoria's premier agricultural event.

Spread inside and out over 100 acres, exhibitors, farmers and visitors alike were treated to an array of activities and sights from new machinery including demonstrations to drone spraying. Freestyle Kings Motocross excitement, the Saturday night rodeo, not to mention equestrian events, kids fishing competition, cooking demonstrations, annual Telstra Women's in Ag lunch, cattle dog display and pony rides, the reptile shows, presentations, live music and plenty more.

Food of all sorts was available including the delicious Cheeky Goose fried chicken and must-have CWA scones with jam and cream. For the kids big and little, Gippsland Jersey had their milkshake van serving up a treat alongside some frozen drinks and coffee further along the promenade.

With live music at every turn, there was laughter and much catching up to be had amongst exhibitors and their customers/suppliers.

With many businesses continuing to offer Farm World specials into this week, do not miss your opportunity to upgrade the tractor, wood splitter or motor-bike.

JP was on hand at Marriotts Leongatha's site as the team showcased their power equipment, motorcycles, quad bikes and ride-on mowers including the Can-Am Outlander Max 6x6. With a 450 and 650 option the 6x6 offers more pay load with additional traction from the three diffs. The 650 also comes with a tip tray. Visit the store for extended Farm World pricing. C14_1323

Jill of Hallston Valley Farm was excited to catch up with the regular folk and new faces at Farm World whilst listening and answering questions about raising sheep in South Gippsland conditions. The ability to devour weeds and topography challenges means sheep can be the perfect solution. C12_1323

Brian, Lewis, Ryan, Tom and Josh in front of the Tool Armour (K1790) were on hand over the weekend as part of ACE Industrial's mega Farm World display. C27_1323

An ACE in the bag

IT WAS all systems go over the three day event as ACE Industrial showcased the biggest display of Kincrome ever seen at Farm World.

Building on last year's Kincrome display the team had a larger variety with more options particularly the toolkit and armour options.

"We are certainly well stocked post pandemic," ACE Industrial said.

From rachets to tool kits, headlamps to welders there was something for everyone – whether you needed it or wanted it.

Good old fashioned polite service, visitors were not disappointed over the weekend, as ACE carried their everyday work into the Baw Baw Pavilion.

"Thank you to our customers and suppliers for their continued support at Farm World."

And if commitments on the farm had you missing the event, pop in store for special post Farm World deals.

Supply correction continues at Leongatha store sale

TEYS Australia, the nation's second-largest meat processor and exporter, wasn't even there.

O'Connors of Pakenham were there but not operating.

And a throwaway line from one of their representatives explained, at least in part, why prices were $600, $800 or even $1000 lower for store cattle at Leongatha on Friday, March 24 than they had been this time last year.

"The feedlots are chockers," he said.

Where last year, feedlots up and down the eastern seaboard of Australia, and in South Australia, were desperate for young cattle to fatten and fill export orders, that's not the case now.

Previously parched properties in Queensland and NSW have well and truly restocked, and after a couple of good years, they are finally turning off well-advanced young cattle in their droves.

Where this small pocket of South Gippsland has continually survived the worst ravages of drought, to keep on churning out well-bred, forward young cattle and finished bullocks, to be the saving grace of the beef industry, the forces of supply and demand are back in town, with a vengeance.

And local producers selling their annual drafts of autumn store cattle, after the season has turned dry and ahead of the winter, had to take what they could get.

But it was no surprise to see prices continuing to settle back after what happened at the annual high country sales last week, which witnessed drops of $800 to $1000-a-head, across the five sales at Shane Harris of Dumbalk was philosophical about the fall in prices for store at Leongatha on Friday.

Hinnomunjie, Omeo, Benambra and Ensay from the "crazy prices" of last year.

Those dizzy heights are a distant memory now.

A pen of 21 crossbred dairy steers from Maffra, weighing an average of 378kg, which would have made up to $1400-a-head last year, struggled to attract a bid even under the expert urging of Brian McCormack of Nutrien Ag.

Hopefully calling for bids above $700, he got a start at $500 and painstakingly moved the offers to a knockdown price of $590.

• A pen of 11 Angus steers (Mardan Lodge) that might have sold for as much as $3000 12 months ago, and $2300 in 2021, sold for an average of $1700.

• A run of 72 vendor-bred Angus steers (Harris Farms partnership Dumbalk), sold for an average of $1600 where they might have sold for $1900 in 2021 and $600-$800 more 12 months ago.

• A run of bigger Angus steers averaging 563kg (N Belcher Woodside), sold for $2200 and $2300-a-head.

• 13 x Speckle Park steers (L Henderson Newry) averaging $484kg sold for $1100.

"It's been a good season at Woodside, the rainfall was average, but we got it at the right time so the stock are looking good but it's March, so the cattle have to go," said Peter Boddy.

"Of course, it's disappointing," he said, noting how the price had come back $800-a-head from last year.

"But that's the way it is. We can't keep them."

Shane Harris, representing the Harris Farms family partnership was equally philosophical.

His 72 vendor-bred Angus steers sold for an average of $1600-a-head, also well down on last year.

"Under the circumstances, we're happy with that. You have to be. That's the way it is," said Shane.

"We don't always put cattle in here, usually selling them direct, but they're gone now."

Nutrien Ag Leongatha director Terry Ginnane acknowledged the fall in prices but said the industry remained buoyant.

Report by SGSAA

AGENTS yarded 3100 cattle last Friday's VLE Leongatha store sale in another very good quality offering.

The better bred pens of the heavy and mid weighted and weaners steers generally held firm, but there was some improvement on a few lines of offer.

Plainer bred, Xbred and Friesian types sold to a cheaper trend with not a lot of interest shown with buyers opting to buy better quality.

Cows and calves were also cheaper.

ON THE LAND

Organising Committee L-R back: Danielle Park, Connor Steel, Rick Butler, Joy Pedersen, Dale Creed; front: Bonnie Dawson, Stuart Grigg, are looking forward to the Victorian Vegetable Field Days.

A vegetable industry spectacle

THURSDAY, April 27 to Friday, April 28, will see the return of specialist vegetable industry field days to Victoria, with the Victorian Vegetable Field Days to be held over the two days in Catani, south-east of Melbourne.

AUSVEG Vic have partnered with Stuart Grigg Ag-Hort Consulting and the two Victorian VegNET projects to run the event at Butler Market Gardens' Catani farm.

The organising committee of Stuart Grigg, Rick Butler, Joy Pedersen, Dale Creed, Bonnie Dawson (Food & Fibre Gippsland) and Danielle Park (AUSVEG) have been working together since July 2022, supported by Major Sponsor Elders Limited and industry RDC Hort Innovation, to deliver an event that showcases the entire supply chain to industry.

Field trials

The field days are an opportunity for growers to see upcoming vegetable genetics across a hectare of display crops.

Ten major seed companies demonstrating their lines are Terranova Seeds, Fairbanks Seeds, HM.Clause, Rijk Zwaan, BASF Vegetable Seeds (Nunhem's), Enza Zaden, Bayer/Seminis, Lefroy Valley Seeds, South Pacific Seeds and Bejo Australia.

In addition to seed demonstration sites, the field days are also an opportunity to see examples of innovative crop protection and nutrition in action from Platinum Sponsors Syngenta and Corteva, as well as six other trials from Incitec Pivot Fertilisers, Stoller, Nufarm, Bio-Start, Omnia and EE Muir & Sons.

Gold sponsors

In a sign of enthusiasm for the event, VicVID has been well supported by over ten Gold Sponsors, including seed companies Australis Seed Company, Enza Zaden and major seedling supplier to the industry, Boomaroo Nurseries.

There will be further displays of crop protection and nutrition products from Gold sponsors Haifa Australia, Grochem, Sumitomo and ADAMA.

Local machinery agents Vin Rowe, Gendore Tractors & Machinery and Brandt | Agriculture John Deere will have their most exciting machines on display, and AgPick will be showing off their system which promises to make the current piece-rate system easier to utilise and better for both grower and worker.

Attendees will be welcomed onsite by national industry representative body, AUSVEG, who will be ensuring growers follow correct biosecurity procedures, including a digital check-in process. Butler Market Gardens has been trialling digital check-in platform Onside in the lead-up to the event, which alerts to site visitors, steps them through their biosecurity protocols and alerts them to any risks.

Learning opportunities in the Event Hub

The committee has invited a number of special guests to present from the Events Hub marquee throughout the two days, including international Spinach Superstars Distinguished Professor Jim Correll and Dr Lindsey du Toit, who will preview the International Spinach Conference scheduled for the following Monday. Levy-funded extension project VegNET will provide an overview of activities available to growers across the state and other R&D investments across the country, including an overview of Gatton's Smart Farm.

Aerial Solutions will be demonstrating their drone spraying services, which can be utilised over open fields and glasshouses.

The benefits of cover cropping will again be on display, following their successful presentation at 2020's East Gippsland Vegetable Innovation Days, and a Future Drought Hub & VegNET Gippsland project which has been trialling soil moisture monitoring technology on-site will provide an opportunity for further learning.

Elders Vegetable Industry Networking Event

One of the greatest benefits expected to come from the event will be the fantastic opportunity it provides for growers and other industry members to catch up. For many it will be the first time to see each other after three long and challenging years. All are invited to attend the Elders Vegetable Industry Networking Event on the Thursday night, which will be held in the nearby town of Bunyip. Guests will be entertained by well-known comedian Dave O'Neil and local musician Emily Mordica. Places are being snapped up quickly so register now at <https://www.trybooking.com/CFTKK>

The Field Days will be officially opened at 10am on Thursday, April 27, and run through until 2pm on Friday at Butler Market Gardens, 200 McDonald Road, Catani.

Spectacular stunts from Freestyle Kings Motocross riders

THE Freestyle Kings Motocross Spectacular is a world-renowned Australian Freestyle Team that dominates the industry with an acclaimed national and international presence.

Three riders delivered a breath-taking performance and displayed raw talent and skill while performing death defying tricks, flips and twists that had the crowd mesmerised. Talented riders included Zac Cuthbert, Tommy Richards and 38-year-old Cam Sinclair, from Cranbourne.

Cam was one of the first motocross riders to perform the difficult triple back stunt a few years ago. Cam mentioned during the show that while pulling off the triple back is a career highlight, the potential of injury together with being married and a father of two children, means his wife will not allow him to perform the dangerous trick again.

Local businesses make the most of Farm World

"We're here and we're local, with stores in Leongatha, Warragul and Maffra," Glyn O'Gorman of Gendore and Adam Unthanks in front of the popular Taege 4.8 triple box air seeder. Glyn commented that the Taege 4.8 has been selling well because of its 4.8m working width, which folds to 3.1m making road transportation easier, and it can be towed by a vehicle with 130 horsepower.

"We've been coming to these field days for years and years now and it's a really great opportunity to showcase our different machinery, our different brands; we're not just a John Deere dealer, we've got Goldacres, Grizzly and Bogballe. It's just a great opportunity to get some of the gear up here, showcase it and let people see it face to face," Leongatha Brandt Manager, Derek Holt, said at Farm World over the weekend.

"It's good to catch up with everyone initially and it's a good chance to show off some of our shiny products and new machines," Cameron Chapman of Chapman Machinery said while in front of the Massey Ferguson 8S.265, award-winning Tractor of the Year 2021, with a new separate and silent cab, innovative transmission and a new package of systems and technology.

Women in focus at Farm World

MORE than 200 friends and colleagues gathered on Friday, March 24, and attended the much-loved Telsstra Women in Ag Luncheon at Farm World, Lardner Park.

The event is held each year in celebration for the women who live and work in agriculture and who are making huge impacts and transformations within their business and communities across rural and regional Australia.

This year attendees heard from two of Australia's top-class speakers. The inspiring and highly successful Pip Courtney, journalist and television presenter, known for her work as a reporter and host for the ABC series Landline, and from Katie Brown, the multi-talented news reporter, presenter, TV and sports show host.

The lunch has become a popular, signature event on the Farm World calendar and has been held since 2012 to recognise and celebrate the contribution that women make in rural and regional Australia.

Young farmer in the making

GLEN Alvie local, Sarah Matthews, is the proud recipient of the Gardiner Foundation Shirley Harlock Scholarship for young dairy farmers.

Named in recognition of the services contributed to the industry by Shirley Harlock, a strong advocate for the Victorian dairy industry and a dairy woman herself of over 42 years, Sarah is looking forwards to commencing a Bachelor of Environmental Science and Management this week at Charles Sturt University, Albury.

"Growing up on a dairy farm you have so much freedom," Sarah said.

"I'm not an indoor person, so it was cool to be outside in the environment doing things I love like getting the cows in and milking. I have always had a passion for the outdoor environment."

"The scholarship came up at school (Bass Coast College) through my careers advisor, who said I should definitely sign up because it's something that will enable me to study without the financial stresses."

Passionate about where the degree may take her, Sarah is looking forwards to the hands-on experience that comes with her degree.

"The degree I'm doing is really cool because it includes a lot of workplace learning. We undertake a lot of placements in real world industries that we're passionate about, and they let us pick our areas. We can apply the skills we're learning as early as the second semester – that's what I'm most excited about."

Shirley Harlock, who the scholarship is named after, and Len Stephens, Gardiner Foundation Chair present the scholarship award to Sarah Matthews.

It is no surprise Sarah has picked this field having been exposed from a young age to conservation work on the family's 400-acre farm, including tree planting.

"I see the importance of it, and I enjoy land management. I got the scholarship because I'm passionate about making sure that the environment is preserved and sustainable for the future. I'm looking into my first placement in the Landcare industry, where they work closely with farmers and people in the environmental field."

"(Into the future) I would like to work in lots of different organisations because it is such a big field with so many different potential options coming out of this degree."

Sarah recommends young people apply for the scholarship, if not to help ease the financial burden and potentially open more doors, but for the experience in the least.

"It was such a good experience – they were really friendly. My careers advisor emailed me an application with a few questions about my degree and how it would benefit the dairy industry, etc. I submitted it and got shortlisted. Had an interview in Melbourne, which I went up for and then got an email a few days later saying that I'd got it. I would encourage people to apply."

Rural communities get strong new voice

REGIONAL Councils Victoria has joined with 30 peak bodies from across Australia to create a new body to advocate for rural, regional and remote communities.

Rural Councils Victoria Deputy Chair Cr Laura Binks said, "RCV is a founding member of the National Alliance for Regionalisation which will bring issues facing Victoria's rural communities to national attention, particularly in the halls of power in Canberra."

"The Alliance provides rural Victorians with another strong voice and valuable avenue to advocate for what our communities need, including housing, skills, health care, aged care, digital connectivity, roads and much more."

Rural Councils Victoria is the only rural Victoria representative and the only Victoria-based local government representative group among the Alliance's founding members.

The Alliance, which was launched in Canberra on Tuesday, March 21, 2023, is an initiative of the Regional Australia Institute (RAI).

GIPPSLAND

Thursday, March 30 • 10AM – 1PM

MDU Football and Netball Club Rooms

Guest Speaker: Ken Zanzalari, Ph.D., Dipl. ACAN, Phibro Animal Health

A properly focused transition cow program is vital for setting up the dairy cow for the whole lactation. It ensures she calves easily, comes onto her milk quickly, returns to energy balance as quickly as possible avoiding metabolic disease problems and gets into calf for her next lactation.

Dr. Ken Zanzalari, Dairy Nutritionist and Product Director with Phibro Animal Health Corporation, will review the importance of optimizing calcium metabolism in the transition dairy cow for optimal performance. Ken's 32 year career has focused on the research and the practical application of feeding and management technologies for the transition dairy cow so she can perform to her best, leading to better farm profitability. In times of labour shortages, correct management of the transition herd not only means less time spent in crisis management, but a more relaxed calving and early lactation period and higher in calf rates.

Also hear about farmer experience of using Animate and how it can be incorporated into your farm system.

Duffy & Simon Lawyers will be running free seminars for impacted parties in regard to the Marinus Link project.

Marinus Link project: know your rights

ACCORDING to the website of the Marinus Link project they have initiated their Design and Approvals Phase of the proposed 1500 megawatt capacity undersea and underground electricity connection.

This stage requires the issuing of Access Licence agreements to landowners, enabling them to access land and easements.

They require this to conduct a range of surveys and assessments to develop the necessary planning and environmental approvals needed to determine the suitability of land within the proposed route.

Elements of this agreement should include the location of where access is granted, conditions of that access, compensation, if applicable and the process of dispute resolution.

It is imperative for landowners to seek advice before completing the agreement to ensure you are mitigating any ongoing risks, costs or damages.

Duffy & Simon Lawyers have represented and worked with landowners and occupiers for many years to explore their rights and negotiate a better outcome.

They work proactively to ensure any legal costs are paid in full by the authority, so landowners can decide without the added pressure of any costs being payable.

Over the coming weeks Duffy & Simon Lawyers will be running free seminars for impacted parties. Hosted by Partner of the firm, Damien McKenna, he will inform those present of what is proposed and occurring, as well as what they can do. For any further information on any of the seminars or how Duffy & Simon can assist you please contact info@duffysimon.com.au

Jackie Goodman has joined the Executive Team this month as the Quality and Risk Manager at South Gippsland Hospital.

South Gippsland Hospital rates highest in the state

CONTINUOUSLY improving safety in Victorian health services relies on staff sharing a positive commitment toward harm prevention and incident management.

Every year, staff in Victorian health services are surveyed about the safety culture of their workplace through participation in the People Matter Survey (PMS). The most recent survey results have been released, and whilst they were conducted last year, they reveal that South Gippsland Hospital (SGH) has rated the highest in the State, alongside Boort District Health, with 85 percent of staff having a positive response to safety culture questions.

SGH CEO, Paul Greenhalgh, said that the SGH team are a highly caring, dedicated, and engaged workforce.

"We were thrilled that 82 per cent of our staff participated in last year's survey. This is up from 55 per cent the year before. To have a team not only care about a patient's health, but also the health of our organisation, signifies that we have a good culture."

The PMS asks health service staff how strongly they agree or disagree with the following eight statements:

- suggestions about patient safety concerns are acted upon when expressed to their manager
- patient care errors are handled appropriately in the area
- management is driving the organisation to be safety-centred
- they are encouraged by their colleagues to report safety concerns
- their organisation adequately supervises trainees
- that their organisation does a good job of training new and existing staff
- they would recommend their friend or relative to be treated as a patient at their organisation.

"To recently learn that 85 per cent of our staff had an overall positive response to the safety culture questions, is just so pleasing. Even more pleasing is that specifically 96 per cent of staff would recommend a friend or relative to be treated as a patient here. That speaks volumes to me" Mr Greenhalgh added.

The SGH Board have recently updated the strategic plan, with quality care and safety being a key pillar.

At the recommendation of the Executive Team, the Board have also been fully supportive of resourcing the Quality team even more in 2023 with Jackie Goodman joining the executive as the Quality and Risk Manager this month.

Through Jackie's leadership, knowledge, and skills, SGH will endeavour to continue to strengthen their safety culture through all services in our Hospital, Community Centres and in people's homes.

Additionally, Jackie will be attending a Safer Care Victoria Quality and Safety Leaders forum on March 29 to collaborate, explore and understand more about staff perceptions of safety culture.

"We hope to identify potential levers for positive change that will support safety culture improvement in the Victorian healthcare system. It will be great to meet others in the industry and share ideas, and bring some fresh ideas back to Foster." Jackie concluded.

From the living the dream to living a nightmare!

MARCUS Ryan went from living the dream, travelling the world performing comedy, to a living nightmare – single, at home with his parents, unemployed and then the dog died.

It was rock bottom. And not a good Tinder bio! Not shy of a challenge, while many turned to alcohol in the pandemic, Marcus drove them to it!

He enrolled in TAFE and began his own business servicing Bass Coast and beyond.

Balancing bus life and performing, the Wonthaggi born comedian has been busy gigging around Gippsland, culminating with the filming of two big hometown shows in 2022.

"The local support was amazing to sell out the Arts Centre and add a night at Archies Creek, now I can't wait to get back on stage in Melbourne with this brand new show," he said.

'Chauffeur So Good' is a stand-up comedy show about how a silly pivot idea became a legit business, with true and tall tales from behind the wheel, some valuable but mostly unhelpful tips on being a bus driver tour guide chauffeur but definitely not a taxi driver, encounters with celebrity footballers, reality stars and puking passengers on board and the ups and downs of trying to stay sober while everyone else is having a good time!

"It's taxi cab confession meets Contiki tour! And if you happened to be on my bus in the last 2 years and did something silly, sorry but you might find yourself part of the show!"

Matinee shows have been added this year on weekends so people can catch it early.

"It's definitely not a kids show but I don't want people missing out, so if you have kids in tow bring them along, they might just learn a few new words!" And what about the bus?

"I'll be taking a little break from behind the wheel, heading overseas on my first comedy tour in a few years, but happy to say I'll be back later in the year to mine some more material from my passengers!"

Catch Marcus performing as part of the Melbourne International Comedy Festival 2023.

April 10-23 at the Elephant & Wheelbarrow, Bourke and Exhibition Street, 7.15pm Mon-Sun (no Wed) 1pm matinee Saturday and Sunday (kids free).

Walk a little in their shoes this Palm Sunday

By SGRAR

COME and join our meeting and walk for justice for refugees on Palm Sunday, April 2 at 2pm under the Wonthaggi Mine Whistle.

Imagine being separated from your family for 10 years like our Afghan friend, A.

The family pines to be together but because 'A' had to run for his life from the Taliban and arrived in Australia without valid papers, the family was denied reunion in Australia.

'A' ran from the Taliban and has been recognised as a genuine refugee. Though he works, pays taxes, is a Tai Quan Do practitioner and referee, and a valued member of his community, he has been in limbo for 10 years.

If 'A' were to come to Australia tomorrow without a valid visa, to seek a safe place to live, he would be sent to the island of Nauru even though he ran for his life with no means of applying for an Australian visa.

The South Gippsland Rural Australians for Refugees, SGRAR, is working towards bringing more justice and compassion to Australia's refugee and asylum seeker laws.

Can we welcome the women,

Walk for justice this Sunday alongside local church ministers and SGRAR.

men and children who run from the atrocities of the Afghan Taliban, the Syrian bombs, Iranian torture as Jesus was welcomed into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday?

Can we welcome more refugees in dire need to our lucky country to share in our good fortune?

SGRAR invites you, your family and friends to meet and walk with us on Palm Sunday to ask for a kinder Australia, for an Australia that is willing to share its bounty with refugees and asylum seekers.

Though there has been some softening of punishing laws governing refugees in Australia with the change of government, much of the harshness to refugees criticised by the UNHCR remains. We still have boat pushbacks, offshore arbitrary indefinite detention of people who run for their lives to reach safety in the only way available to them.

Many of the people who have been recognised as genuine refugees and thus by international law owed protection, have lingered here for ten and more years desperate for family reunion.

Come and join our quest for justice for refugees on Palm Sunday to ask for more just, compassionate laws alongside local church ministers. We will meet under the Wonthaggi Mine Whistle on Sunday to speak about welcoming the stranger and then walk around Wonthaggi in support of justice for refugees.

If you would like to join us, please email Felicia on sgrar07@gmail.com

Capital works $29.5 million higher than budgeted

BASS Coast Shire Council's Quarterly Performance Report ending December 2022 was recently released revealing a capital works program $29.5 million higher than budgeted.

Totalling $58.5 million for the 2022/23 period, the capital works program is greater due to completion of $28.2 million for works originally budgeted in previous financial years.

These figures are unsurprising given the Council's Quarterly Performance Report for January 1 to March 31, 2022, which revealed an expected $26.9 million in capital works that would be carried over to the current financial year, mostly due to delays as a result of the pandemic.

Kerbside waste collections costs have also had a detrimental effect on the Council's budget with higher costs as a result of increase in population and bin lift rates, furthermore a higher landfill levy has been a direct result of increased volume of waste.

The third adverse impact on Council's year to date was an understated forecast planning revenue due to 'reduced planning applications.'

The report, however, does highlight a $38.1 million surplus in the Council's year to date operating results with project foci including the opening of the Wonthaggi Guide Park Redevelopment, stage one of Rhyll Play Space, Cowes East Foreshore coastal works, Newhaven Soccer Pavilion and Cowes Boat Ramp Eastern Carpark upgrade.

The Council's progress report is reasonably positive with most actions underway.

However, some actions have been noted as at risk having been adversely impacted and unlikely to be delivered.

This includes the completion of installation of public electric vehicle charging stations, and finalisation of the Neighbourhood Character and Housing Strategy (this is due to finalisation of the Victorian Government statement of Planning Policy).

There are also multiple actions that require Council's attention that have been noted as behind schedule – these include a Review of the Waste Management Strategy, Bass Coast Reconciliation Action Plan and development of Township Plan for San Remo.

Revamped Port Welshpool & District Maritime Museum official reopening

PORT Welshpool & District Maritime Museum's official reopening takes place on Saturday April 1.

The museum was closed for 12 months for major renovations, including reblocking, internal repainting and the installation of appropriate floor coverings that provide a look suited to the building's heritage.

The museum's collection has been bolstered through an event held offsite during renovations to encourage people to donate items of interest.

Everyone is welcome from 11am, with special guest Max Wood joining the celebration at 1pm, being both the current 'South Gippsland Shire Citizen of the Year' and a former president of the museum.

Port Welshpool & District Maritime Museum proved a popular attraction during this year's Sea Days Festival, but its reopening is yet to be officially commemorated.

"Come along and help us celebrate," museum secretary Janet Taylor said.

The museum building was once her home, donated by her father Arnie Smith, and displays the family's old fishing boat, the Janet Isles, built in Williamstown in 1914.

Janet said the Port Welshpool & District Maritime Museum always welcomes new items, stories and information on local history, as well as additional volunteers.

Sisters Kerry Fitzgerald, Leesa Willmott and Sharon Oates are ready to tackle the 'Lions Ride for Sight' challenge, helping prevent blindness.

Lions Ride creates better future vision

KORUMBURRA will be the base for this year's 'Lions Ride for Sight', the 29th edition of an event raising funds to help eradicate preventable blindness and find cures or improved treatments for eye diseases, with this year's journey beginning in Wonthaggi on Friday April 14.

The annual ride travels a variety of routes throughout Gippsland.

This year's event starts in Wonthaggi, with riders tackling the hills of Woolamai, Nyora, Loch, Poowong, Drouin South, Jumbunna, Koonwarra and finishing the adventure in Korumburra on April 16.

A trio of sisters are participating, inspired by a family history of macular degeneration.

"It's a big thing if we can raise money for research to find a cure or slow the disease," Sharon Oates of Inverloch, one of the sisters said.

Her parents Colin and Pam, long-term Lions Club members, both have age-related macular degeneration, with Pam requiring eye injections every six weeks and Colin at an advanced stage of the condition and legally blind.

Sharon and her three sisters are in the early stages of macular degeneration.

The two siblings joining her on the ride are Kerry Fitzgerald and Leesa Willmott, with the other sister being Denise Bristow.

Of those riding, Sharon faces the biggest challenge over the approximately 240-kilometre course, only hopping on her bike in early February, while Leesa and Kerry were already social riders.

Sharon said she has generally been riding every two days, recently completing a 107-kilometre pedalling effort with Kerry and Leesa, passing through Archies Creek before lunch at the Grantville Corner Store and a return journey to Inverloch.

Parents Colin and Pam have been busy securing sponsorship for the cause, visiting various businesses.

Lions Clubs long ago joined the fight against blindness, motivated by famous blind writer and activist Hellen Keller who issued 'Lions Clubs International' a challenge in 1925.

"Will you not help me hasten the day when there shall be no preventable blindness, no deaf, blind child untaught, no blind man or woman unaided?"

"I appeal to you Lions; you who have your sight, your hearing, you who are strong and brave and kind. Will you not constitute yourselves 'Knights of the Blind' in this crusade against darkness?"

Lions rose to the challenge and made research into and treatment of vision loss a fundamental aspect of Lions service.

'Ride for Sight' was an initiative of the V3 District of Lions Clubs that is based in Gippsland and the Mornington Peninsula, with the inaugural ride going from Mallacoota to Melbourne.

Over the years the event has raised a staggering total in excess of $1 million for research into and treatment of vision loss, mostly conducted by the Centre for Eye Research and Vision Australia.

"Team Sisters' would be very grateful if you could come on their journey and donate some much-needed funds for the 'Lions Ride for Sight' to help find cures for all the debilitating eye diseases," Sharon said.

Donations to sponsor the sisters can be made online at raisely.com/t/teamsisters and are tax deductible.

The trio of sisters have set goals of completing the ride and raising $10,000, with the latter an objective they are on course to smash, having already reached a total of over $9,000 by March 22.

Around the Bay

With Jim's Bait and Tackle

THE days are getting shorter, the leaves falling off the trees, the water is cooling down and this weekend daylight savings is ending, all signs that we are heading towards winter. The only thing that isn't showing signs of winter is the fishing. There are less people fishing but the quality of the reports is as good as we have seen all season both in the bay and offshore. We had a customer offshore during the week on the tuna, who has done several trips this season with mates, telling us that the tuna were everywhere.

They kept 2 but released about a dozen more and just left them biting but found them in close and all the way out to Cody banks.

If you are going to be catching to release change out your trebles to single hooks as they make it much easier to release the fish without injury.

The fish reported in the bay are not quite jumping in the boats, the sizes are very mixed up and a little more driving around and patience is needed but a feed of quality fish is easily possible. A couple of weeks ago it looked like we were going to see another run of snapper, but it didn't last and we are back to smaller pinkies with the occasional bigger one.

Whiting fishing at the moment is one of expect a whiting of every possible size to show up. Everywhere you fish for whiting lately has produced good numbers, but the sizes are all over the place. The fish are still very healthy, and you will get a good feed off 1/2 a dozen or so which is around the average number of size one's people are finding. There are always exceptions of course and some have been lucky enough to land on a good patch and catch their bag. What I am finding from the reports though is those catching a bag of fish don't have any or many over the 40cm mark whereas those only finding smaller numbers are getting much better fish. Where? It's the million-dollar question and it really has just been fish your favourite whiting spot where the conditions will allow you to. Our reports have come from everywhere lately and even a few showing up from the land-based customers as well.

Calamari, gummies and flathead are all being reported but whiting and tuna seem to be the targeted species and the rest just a bonus. There is quality, quantity, under-size, and none at all in the other species. its just that time of the year where you head out fishing and really unsure what you might come home with because all is possible. Those actually targeting these other species are probably not doing much better than those just heading out fishing. There is another handful of species that I could add to the list as is the nature of this time of the year but more importantly it just shows how healthy the bay is at the moment.

Fishermen are their own worst enemy is a phrase I hear in the shop often and it's becoming more frequently, not just from fishermen but plenty of concerned members of the public as well.

You don't even have to spend five minutes on the computer to find a dozen groups trying to stop fishing, as an example just google the PEW group, this group is funded better than many small countries that start spot fires all round the world with one agenda.

Don't forget the Easter Good Friday Fishing Comp if you haven't entered as yet.

We will also have extended hours over the Easter weekend opening at 6am every day.

WONTHAGGI TABLE TENNIS

THE Autumn comps are off to a flying start at Wonthaggi Table Tennis.

The return of top A Grade players has been a great boost for the club and there have been a few surprises to deal with.

The clash between Jack Duff and Braden Andrighetto last week was, as expected, a great match.

The first game was a 12/10 win to Jack, the second 11/9 to Braden. Braden ramped up the pressure in the third for an 11/5 win and a very close 14/12 in the fourth. Well done to both.

Another A Grade top match was between Justin Licis and Michael Chang. It went to five with each game very competitive.

Justin finally hit the winner in the fifth at 11/7. Justin's team (with Sean Michael) came home with a 3-2 win after a good doubles victory.

Mark Donohue and Sean Michael (Thunderbox) had a close battle against Andrew and Charley Donohue (Miners) for a 3-2 win.

Undefeated players in A Grade are Justin Licis, Braden Andrighetto and Bruce Harmer.

Miners are on top of the ladder with a percentage lead over Underground Police (Braden, and Andrew Fremantle).

A Reserve was equally exciting. Purple Wombats (Andy Chetcuti and Ryan) are on top of the ladder with a very slight percentage lead over Lazy Lambs (Leanne Costello, Poppy Duff).

Blue Dinosaur (Jason Meyer and Jay) are just behind in third place. Every point counts in this comp.

The only undefeated player in AR is David Kimmins.

Social table tennis continues on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 12.00 mid-day.

Juniors coaching is on Thursdays from 6.00 pm with David, Trish and Sam. All welcome.

For more information, please phone Trish on 0407 502 441 or Brad on 0432 311 047.

Two exciting red points events are happening in April. First our mid-week pairs on Wednesday, April 5, and then April 12. Round up your partner and let's try and get at least 6 tables for this event (normal start time).

The second is the postponed Life Members pairs on April 24. (Start time to be advised)

Caroline Shaw and Graham Mckergow have been refreshing the home page of our web site. Check it out on www.bridgewebs.com, Phillip Island.

Wonthaggi pair triumph at Drouin

Sue Cartwright and Gerry Kool at Drouin.

SUE Cartwright and Gerry Kool travelled to Drouin on the weekend March 4- 5, to participate in their level play doubles tournament.

Nine pairs contested each of the two sections making it two very long (and hot) days.

They managed 4 out of 4 wins on day one and 3 out of 4 wins on day two.

Their only hiccup being a 5/4 loss with the game timed out. A great effort to finish on top with the husband and wife team of Heather and Roger Bradbury from Bairnsdale, finishing runners-up with 6 wins and 2 losses.

The weekend before, Wonthaggi Club hosted a level play singles tournament with players from Benalla, Leongatha, Mornington, Drouin, Morwell, Sale, Phillip Island, Ringwood, Queenscliff and Drysdale. A great turnout.

Winner of section 1 was Garry Daley (Drysdale) from John Mitchell (Lakes Entrance) and the winner of section 2 was Claire Earl (Phillip Island) from Bob Quale (Drouin).

The internal annual President v Secretary challenge was held on March 7.

A couple of cancellations meant that the President and Secretary (much to their chagrin) actually had to play to make up the numbers.

This year the secretary's team prevailed by winning 5 games to 4. Congratulations to them and all those who participated to create a fun day.

The new clubrooms are going ahead in leaps and bounds and the excitement is building as each day goes by.

With these much improved facilities, scheduled to be finished sometime in August, it will give the club better opportunities to attract new members.

Don't forget, club days are Monday (4.00pm to whenever during daylight savings), Wednesday and Saturday from 10.00am. We welcome anyone to come and have a try. See our web site for contact details.

Claire Earl wins Korumburra Croquet tournament

ON March 18-19, the Korumburra Croquet Club held a Tournament sponsored by Elders.

We had participating club members from Leongatha, Mornington, Sale, Phillip Island, Morwell, Drouin, Yarrowonga and Howlong.

Sixteen players in all played well in a friendly and happy environment and a great day was had by all, in fairly good weather conditions.

In Section 1 Division Claire Earl of Phillip Island won with Michael Barber coming second.

In Section 2 Division Wilma Freeman from Sale won, with Nathan Reynold from Yarrowonga coming second.

We would like to thank all the people who played and the supporters who came to watch along with our members who helped on the day.

We would also like to say that our club is always happy to welcome new members, you can contact our president Helen Checkley on 56552247 or 0408 971 870.

Mixed results as Gippsland juniors takes on Mornington

Jared Goodwin (keeper, U18) in action against Mornington recently.

U16s Gippsland United

GIPPSLAND United vs Mornington has always been a heated competition and today was no exception. Welcoming back GFCU's striker Trent Frost #27, the boys banded together and played an exceptionally strong game against the winners of the NPL 3 league. GFCU having the majority of the ball in the first half and headers by Spencer Boughton #25, Lochlan Pillay #6 and Lucas Halden #32 kept the ball in our possession resulting in the first goal of the game scored by Leeton Hilli #22 assisted by Dylan Rosato #30.

The boys kept the pressure up in the second half surprising their opponents, who thought it was going to be an easy win. Working together they kept Mornington goalless for the majority of the second half but unfortunately, they got one through our defences and sadly followed it by a second goal in the final moments. Our boys fought hard from beginning to end showing that they are getting stronger with each game and again the score did not reflect the how hard they played.

Score 1-2 to Mornington.

U18s Gippsland United

The Gippsland boys headed out to the park, 0 wins from 7 games with a rough start to their qualifying campaign. They faced bottom of the table Mornington, who had also struggled, going 0 wins from 8 games coming into the contest.

It was Gippsland who came out from the get-go, with ChoCho Mohammed bagging his first goal of the season before pulling off an acrobatic celebration in the corner of the pitch. Soon after, Ronald Kong scored a 1v1 with the goalkeeper and doubled Gippsland's advantage.

In the last 20 minutes of the first half, Brody Dem-agistris was able to find the net via a header from a corner, and a 1v1 finish after a delightful ball over the top by goalkeeper Jared Goodwin. Heading into the second half 4 goals up, it was the Gippsland boys who remained well in control. Abraham Konyi, a consistent defender, found himself in the midfield to start the second half, and within 3 minutes of his new role, found the back of the net in beautiful style to make it 5.

Mornington evened out the contest as the game got increasingly competitive towards the final 15 minutes, before Harry Humphries smashed the ball in from close range to hit Mornington for 6. A first clean sheet and a first win for the Gippsland U18 boys, as they look to continue their form against Dandenong Thunder on Sunday.

Gippsland 6, Mornington 0.

Second overall and a first in round three for Under 16 boys, Rye Cicero didn't hold back over the weekend.

Under 14 Boys Woolworths Junior Surfing Title winner Arch Rayner.

Arch Rayner takes home U14 State Title

MAKING for an exciting but nerve-racking start for day two, the swell had filled in even more overnight with a pulse of 4-6 foot waves rolling onto the bank at Gunnamatta for the final day of Round Three of the Woolworths Victorian Junior Surfing Titles.

In the Under 16 Girls semi-finals Ava Holland (Dromana) and Sara Hickson (Rye) started out firing, using their home break knowledge to pick out the best wave in each of their semi-final heats. Holland scored the highest wave of the day, a 9.67-point ride, with a series of vertical backhand snaps.

On the other side of the draw in the Under 16 Boys, Rye Cicero (Sandy Point) was able to take the win and in doing so stop the winning streak of Jerry Kelly who had already secured the State Championship by claiming the first two rounds of the series.

Cicero, who showed that he wasn't going to hold back on any section, started off strong out the back by hammering a range of turns all the way to shore. This put him in rhythm as he went back out to pick up another wave that winded back and forth on the bank with Cicero putting together a strong carve and solid backhand snap to finish the wave off. He went straight back out again and picked off another wave allowing for another series of solid manoeuvres to earn a combined heat total of 15.33 points (out of a possible 20 points).

"It was a good final, I managed to find a few waves which were enjoyable to surf on," Rye Cicero said.

"I picked up a bit of a rhythm in this round which made the final really fun to surf," he concluded.

In an incredible overall result, Arch Rayner of Inverloch took home first place in the U14 boys, whilst Eva Based (Sandy Point), Rye Cicero (Sandy Point) and Scarlett Rennie (Cape Woolamai) took home second place in their respective age groups for the Woolworths Victorian Junior Surfing Titles.

Help shape future of BMX and mountain bikes

BASS Coast Shire is seeking expressions of interest to join a newly formed BMX, Pump Track and Mountain Bike Reference Group.

Staggered start for local football netball leagues

The busy round of practice matches concluded at the weekend ahead of the start to the 2023 football season, including the Dalyston and MDU under 18s who had a spirited encounter in superb playing conditions at Dalyston.

MDU travelled to Dalyston. Inverloch-Kongwak played Traralgon, a team expected to make strides in the Gippsland League in 2023 and Leongatha travelled down to Berwick; as some of the local clubs putting their finishing touches on their preparations ahead of the start of the new season.

Locally, Wonthaggi hosts Sale in the opening round of the season on Saturday, April 1 after the two teams shared some very close contests last year with Sale ultimately ending the Power's run in the Preliminary Final at Morwell.

Leongatha cross the hills to Traralgon which is being touted as a likely improver in 2023.

Moe hosts Morwell on Saturday, Bairnsdale hosts Maffra in a twilight contest and Drouin and Warragul play a local derby at Drouin on Sunday.

The Ellinbank and District FNL starts with a bang on Saturday, April 1 with Poowong hosting Nyora at Poowong, a great way to get the season going locally. The comp then takes a break for Easter.

West Gippsland makes a staggered start to its season with the premiers Tooradin-Dalmore hosting Cora-Lynn on Saturday, April 1 and two of the local seaside clubs, Inverloch-Kongwak and Phillip Island staging games for the holiday crowds on Easter Saturday, April 8; IK versus Nar Nar Goon and the Island against Warragul Industrials.

The other West Gippy clubs including Korumburra-Bena, Kilcunda-Bass and Dalyston have to wait until after the Easter break to get their seasons underway.

Mid Gippsland doesn't start until Saturday, April 22.

Korrine and District Junior Association Tennis Grand Final

IT HAS been a fabulous season for Korrine and District Junior Tennis Association with tennis continuing to grow in the region with a number of Section 5 teams coming on board this year.

The Grand Final was held on a perfect tennis playing day on Saturday, March 25, at Wonthaggi and Inverloch with great sportsmanship and tennis skills on display.

We endeavour to keep these skills developing through the year with our winter competition to begin in May.

Congratulations to all of those teams who made it through to the grand final.

AM&DTA Section 2 tennis premiers for 2023 are the Outtrim team of Marty Nicholas, Sarah Beale, Gavin Furness, Brooke Elford, Nick Beale and Noelene Cosson.

Inverloch reign supreme in Alambree, Mirboo and District grand final

A GREAT atmosphere was the highlight of the 2022/2023 season grand finals in both sections and for all supporters.

Section 1: Inverloch v Westernport

Inverloch ladies have played together for a number of years and used this experience to help their team toward a win over Westernport.

The Westernport men played well and won two of their sets. With just a two game advantage to Inverloch going into the mixed, it was still anyone's match.

All three mixed sets were played at once so no one had the pressure of how many games they needed to secure a win for their team. Inverloch came away six game winners.

Section 2: Outtrim v Baromi

With all scores level going into the mixed, Outtrim or Baromi could have walked away with the winner's trophy. Like in Section 1, all the mixed sets were played at the same time. Outtrim won all three mixed sets and the match by seven games. All sets throughout the day were competitive, especially first mixed who had to play a tiebreaker – Baromi fighting back from 6/2 down. Well done to Matt Fraser who played in his first senior tennis grand final after playing (and winning) the Junior final that same morning.

The Presentation Night followed the Grand Final at Brent Sinclair's Space47 in Leongatha which proved to be a well set up venue for the night. The food was enjoyed by all who came along. All teams were represented, which was great to see.

Part of every Presentation Night is the awarding of the coveted Most Games Won for each section. It was a particularly special moment for Score Secretary Mary Jepson. Mary won the award back when it was for most sets won. Susan Clark, Mary's daughter, has won a few of these over the years, and this time it was Mary's granddaughter Nicole de Longville who won Section 2 Ladies.

All the winners were:
Section 1 Ladies: Bronwyn Williams

Section 1 Men: Connor Krohn

Section 2 Ladies: Nicole de Longville

Section 2 Men: Martin Nicholas

What a way to cap off a season that has been well enjoyed by all players. We have seen some juniors coming through in both sections – let's hope that we can continue recruiting some during the off season to help the future of our Association.

The Koonwarra Tennis Club have done a fabulous job to ensure a successful year, so thank-you to them.

Pavilion looking good!

THE new pavilion for Wonthaggi Tennis Club is still expected to be completed in May this year.

The pavilion is expected to be a huge addition for the club and greatly expand their facility and events.

• C Grade, Divison 1

FOLLOWING their convincing win over last season's runners up, Phillip Island travelled to the Outtrim Recreation Oval to face off with the giant killers Korumburra for the C grade Division one flag.

The Cobras knocked off minor premiers Inverloch in Inverloch in the Semi Final and won the toss and the big dance and elected to bat first.

However, unfortunately for them, that's about where their luck ran out as they lost both openers Patrick Beadel (0) and Jacob Wrigley (8) early to be 2/10.

Things didn't improve soon after as they lost Semi Final man of the match Cameron Smith for just three.

Fortunately though for 'Burra, the duo of Jake Rockall (41 from 86) and Darren Scott (32* from 60) were able to steer them out of real trouble with a 46-run partnership.

Although, just as Rockall neared the half century mark, he was dismissed, sparking a complete collapse as the Sharks again took over, this time ending the Cobras innings.

Starting with the fall of Rockall's wicket, the Islanders claimed 7/27, led by Tharidu Asurumui (4/7 from 3) who claimed four of the seven in just three overs!

Deane Mani (3/28 from 7.3) took the other three as Korumburra finished 10/100, setting a Phillip Island a target of 101-runs for the premiership.

In the chase, the Island top order was superb, getting a great early start through John Manning (16) and Gavin Excell (26 from 52) and then recovering beautifully after losing Manning at 1/32, and then Excell at 2/52.

The dynamic duo in Asurumui (33* from 26) and Mani (22* from 40) who did so much damage with the ball, came in to finish the job with the bat, seeing the Sharks over the line with six wickets to spare.

Rockall (1/25 from 8) tried hard with the ball but it wasn't to be, as his side's brave finals campaign came to an end after a great season.

Congratulations to Phillip Island, after claiming the C grade Division two premiership last season and earning promotion to the first division, they are the 2022/23 LDCA C grade Division one premiers!

WHILE a stoic rearguard effort from Michael Warren gave Leongatha Town a somewhat defendable target, a largely dominant display from OMK's bowlers set up a Diggers' C2 premiership.

Warren was the only Scorpion OMK couldn't dislodge, making 42 not out, but Leongatha Town was skittled for just 120, with medium pacer George Lomagno the pick of the bowlers for the victorious Diggers.

He wreaked havoc with the ball, knocking over Town's top three by the time the score had reached 29 and Leongatha never recovered.

Lomagno finished with 3/20 from eight overs.

"He's a stalwart of the club, about to notch up 500 games, so he's a big game player and he got handed the ball to open the bowling and got the job done," OMK skipper Jordan Myers said.

Fast-medium bowler Daniel Wylie also collected three wickets for OMK, damaging Leongatha Town's middle and lower order.

Mick Whiteside was another destructive force with the ball, claiming the scalp of Leongatha Town dangerman Travis Strybosch for a duck and allowing a miserly 14 runs from eight disciplined overs.

The off spin of Leon 'Lenny' Holderhead helped wrap up Leongatha Town's tail, ending the innings of Scorpion president

Cam Dowling (19), and taking 2/13 from four and a half overs.

"He tied the game down and made sure the tail didn't wag," Myers said of Holderhead's important role with the ball.

Holderhead's confidence carried over to his turn with the willow, opening the batting and making an unbeaten 59 and setting up a six-wicket win for OMK, helping him earn man of the match status.

"He dug deep and batted smart," Myers said of Holderhead's composed innings and ability to identify the balls to let pass and those to profit from.

Andrew Sorensen (19) played an important role as Holderhead's opening partner, enabling the side to reach 42 before losing a wicket, a sizeable foundation for achieving the small target required.

Leongatha Town's bowlers stuck at their task, with Dowling claiming the top order wickets of Lomagno (10) and opposition skipper Myers (12), to finish with 2/25 off eight overs.

Strybosch fought back from the disappointment of his short innings with a strong performance with the ball and although wicketless, allowed just 21 runs from his seven overs.

Rhett Hume and Archie Fixter took a wicket each for the out-classed Scorpions.

"It was a well steered ship by the captain that got us over the line," Myers said with a touch of humour as celebrations continued on Sunday, noting he tweaked the usual order of OMK's batting and bowling.

Myers expressed pride in OMK's achievements as a club, pointing out that three of its four senior sides made finals and two played in grand finals.

He said that OMK and Leongatha Town have competed well against each other throughout the season, with each having success against the other.

Cougars go one better in 22/23

• B Grade, Division 1

AFTER roaring into the big dance with a big win in the semis, Nerrena arrived at Scorpion Park looking to add a premiership to their perfect minor premiership season as they faced last season's runners up Koonwarra L/RSL.

The Red Caps won the toss and chose to bat first but the Cougars recent form with the ball shone through once again, after they knocked off a strong Inverloch side in the semi finals.

Koony had the fancied Nerrena in plenty of trouble early, removing Lachlan Roberts and James Kelly without scoring to have the minor premiers 2/7 early.

Both players scored half centuries in the semi final, so this start from the Cougars gave them a crucial boost in momentum no doubt and saw them push on to dismiss the dangerous David Baldi (20 from 59).

This ultimately changed the game completely as things began to all fall in Koony's favour.

The wicket of Baldi had the Red Caps on the back foot at 3/30 and then a flurry of wickets soon had them 8/54.

Although, the minor premiers were not going to give in that easy and Damien Symmons (43 from 69) gave it his all trying to wrestle back control of the innings putting together a 65-run stand with Tyson Harris (13* from 71).

Although Symmons' brave knock ended prior to the half century mark and soon after, the Red Caps innings was over at 10/122, Matt Cooke's (4/13 from 10) spell was a crucial one in setting a 123-run target for the premiership.

In reply, the Cougars lost Cooke (10) early but unlike Nerrena, were able to recover from the early loss and continue on, behind the sensational innings of Michael Thomas (50* from 152).

The opener batted on brilliantly after losing partners in Cooke, at 1/12, then Josh Thomas (18) at 2/53 and Nigel Grimes (0) at 3/55 to steer the Cougars into an unlosable position alongside his captain James Rushton (33* from 48).

The pair's 68-run partnership was enough to guide Koony home for the seven-wicket win despite Mitch Croatto's (1/10 from 4) efforts with the ball.

Nerrena's amazing season comes to an end, just one win short from making it a full sweep.

The Cougars skipper James Rushton spoke to the Sentinel Times post game.

"We've been building nicely throughout the year especially after Christmas; we've really dominated with the ball," he said.

"Nerrena have been the team of the year, they've gone undefeated apart from today and we've always had great battles with them throughout the past three years."

Josh Thomas looks to take his shot carefully. Ns081323

Davies talk of ‘Town’ after epic final’s battle

• B Grade, Division 2

MATT Davies' scorching 94 not out, despite Leongatha Town needing just 128 to defeat Outtrim Moyarra Kongwak, left no doubt who was man of the match as the Scorpions celebrated a six-wicket win.

Davies earlier performed strongly with the ball, capturing 3/17 from his 10 overs of medium pace.

However, other Leongatha Town bowlers inflicted early damage on OMK before Davies helped dispatch the lower order.

Noah Fixter accounted for the dangerous Scott Handley who had threatened to carry the Diggers to a defendable total, mixing respectful defence with aggressive batting.

Handley (34) ultimately succumbed to an outfield catch, not getting enough on an aggressive shot to the leg side to reach safety.

He was OMK's top scorer.

Levi Hickey helped set the early positive tone for Leongatha Town, bowling OMK opener Robert Quaife for 11 on the way to 2/23 off his maximum over allotment.

Despite the excellent performance of Town's medium pace brigade, it was compact young leg spinner Ethan Smith who was the most enthralling to watch.

He had the Diggers transfixed, with Brad Hayes the only one prepared to take it up to the youngster.

While that approach worked briefly, including turning a floating Smith delivery into a full toss and crunching a boundary, Smith soon triumphed, bowling Hayes for 19.

Being a junior prohibited Smith from bowling 10 consecutive overs and he finished with a compelling 2/18 from eight overs.

Lachie Gill took one wicket but played a significant part in the Town attack, conceding a meagre 21 runs from his 10 overs.

OMK's lower order, along with number seven batsman Luke Jones, showed tenacity to bat out its 50 overs, only being bowled out on the final delivery after it earlier appeared the Diggers may fall well short of achieving that.

Jones' determined unbeaten 17 off 59 balls helped give the OMK bowlers a glimmer of hope.

With Leongatha Town still having work to do at the fall of its fourth wicket, OMK no doubt clung to the belief it could cause a match-winning collapse, but Davies ensured that wasn't on the cards.

He bludgeoned 10 boundaries and a six in a near run-a-ball knock, appearing a late chance to make a century.

However, Town sensibly made grand final victory the priority and ran out of runs for Davies to reach what would have been a thoroughly deserved ton.

Justin Greenwood (2/28) was the multiple wicket taker for runner-up OMK.

Handley backed up his solid batting display with disciplined bowling, taking 1/34 off 10 overs, with Owen Fitzpatrick the other wicket taker for the Diggers.

For Leongatha Town keeper Davern Goss, the Scorpions' commanding grand final victory was the ideal way to celebrate his 200th game.

Back-to-back victories for Phillip Island

As he has all season long, Amila Ratnaike gave it everything for Leongatha, but his side came up short. B03_1323

Although, just as they had the first time, the Islanders recovered superbly and Thomas Keily (84* from 92) joined Rathnayake at the crease and the pair put 'Gatha to the sword, to the tune of a massive 106-run partnership to send their score north of 300.

Rathnayake eventually fell to Ratnaike after a scintillating century, but a late flurry from Brodie Johnston (22* from 20) saw the Island finish on a mammoth total of 6/385, setting Leongatha a target of 386 for the premiership.

On Sunday, Town began the chase and unfortunately, they didn't quite show the same ability to fight back after the loss of wickets as the Island showed a day earlier.

The Scorpions lost Hume (2) early and just as Ben Hanrahan (8) and their skipper Jesse Giardina (21 from 27) looked to reconsolidate the innings, they lost Giardina to fall 2/24.

Keily then struck again after sending the Town skipper packing, to remove Ron Abeysinghe (8) who was also starting to look strong behind the ball, the opening duo of Keily and Simon Kirton (2/8 from 8.3) proving once again to be a formidable one for the Sharks.

Hanrahan continued on and was digging in courageously with his side 3/38, looking to wrestle back the momentum however, the call from Mock to bring on Max Royal (5/44 from 15) was a game changer.

Royal bowled tremendously claiming five wickets, the first of which many would say to be the most pivotal, removing the form man of the competition and ever-dangerous Madura Madasunka (14) clean bowled.

This ignited the Islanders and Royal himself, he had Hanrahan soon after, trapped LBW after a brave knock at number three, then Dulaj Polwaththa Gallage (8) after he combined with Ratnaike (31 from 34) for a brief counterattack.

With the wicket of Mudassar Riaz (5), Royal had four and had turned the Grand Final on its head, with Town 7/90, still 296 runs adrift.

However, Ratnaike was not going to see his Scorpions go down without a fight and launched a six out of the ground to change momentum, losing the ball in the process, an almighty strike.

Ratnaike gave it everything with bat and ball and he's done so often for Town, but in the end it just wasn't their weekend.

Royal claimed the wicket of the star all rounder for his fifth of the match and the Island were well on their way.

In a move that copped some negative feedback from the Sharks faithful over the fence, Mock took Royal off with one wicket to go, bringing on Kirton who finished the job, capping off the 276-run win.

The win shows that the Island are truly never out of it and just took 'the long way' in their pursuit of perfection, as Mock reiterated in his victory speech post game.

"We played our best cricket of the year in the last four days (two games) and as I've kept telling the boys, the cream rises," he said.

It certainly did, and once again the Sharks are the cream of the crop.

Congratulations to Phillip Island, the back to back LDCA A grade Division 1 premiers!

The premiers in A Grade Division 2, and promoted to A1 next season are Korumburra, from the left, back, Harshika Fernando, Steve Hamill, Jason Richards, Josh Whiteside, Tom Crocker, Peter Edwards, Tim Morrison (president), front, Zach Barrett, Cory Arnold, Daniel Salmon, Harry McNeil, Rumesh Rangana (captain), Mitchell Young, Inshaka Siriwardena and Noah Christensen.

Two moments that mattered in the A2 final

• A Grade, Division 2

CRICKET matches often swing on single events and there were two such incidents in the LDCA - A Grade Division 2 Grand Final on the weekend which propelled the undefeated Korumburra side to victory over Meeniyandumbalk United.

The first was a rearing, snorting delivery from Korumburra opening bowler Steve Hamill, only the second delivery of the whole match, which MDU opener Steve Arnup just managed to feather through to Peter Edwards in slips to give the Cobras the perfect start.

From that point onwards, throughout the MDU innings, they were on top, and notwithstanding the stoic knock by Mitch McGrath of 44 off 156 balls faced, the wickets continued to tumble at regular intervals.

Hamill finished with 3/42 off 22 overs, Harry McNeill and Harshika Fernando chipped in with one each and the team's Sri Lankan star, Inshaka Siriwardena, cleaned up the tail, taking 5/26.

In the end, MDU had made 112 off 60.4 of their allotted 90 overs.

Everything had to go right from that stage onwards, simply to make a game of it, and hopes lifted when MDU made an excellent start with the ball.

Korumburra had 29 overs to face on Saturday afternoon however any idea they'd be able to polish off the target in short order went out the window.

After facing 17 balls, Korumburra opener Harshika Fernando hit out aggressively at a delivery from Mark Cantwell and was caught by Ben Cantwell at midwicket and not long after, Cory Arnold was caught behind off Cantwell again, this time by the MDU captain Joel Sinclair Inshaka Siriwardena dives to make his ground on the way to a match-winning performance in the A2 grand final.

MDU's Mitch McGrath was praised for his stoic innings of 44 off 156 balls in the grand final.

Korumburra was forced to rethink its strategy with Cantwell really bending his back and MDU up and about in the field.

Siriwardena joined Jacob Whiteside out in the centre, with 2/12 on the board, and MDU tightening the screws at both ends.

The pressure boiled over, confusion over a call for a quick run left Siriwardena stranded in the middle of the pitch for what looked certain to be an easy runout but the return from the field went wide and high, and the moment was lost.

Siriwardena made his ground, and the rest is history.

Whiteside and Siriwardena were more circumspect from that point onwards and returned safely on Sunday to clean up the remaining 67 runs for victory.

Despite offering another chance, Siriwardena finished with 58 not out, and Whiteside a chanceless 39 not out.

Predictably Siriwardena was named man of the match but the umpires Steve McNamara and Ian Thorn nominated several other very good performances including Mitch McGrath's standout innings of 44, Steve Hamill's strong opening bowling and Mark Cantwell's bowling for MDU, taking 2/8 off 10 overs to have Korumburra on the back foot in the opening stages of their innings, a fair effort in the circumstances.

Speaking at the presentations afterwards, Korumburra captain Jimmy Rangana said "discipline" was the hallmark for Korumburra's unbeaten season, for everything from being on time for training and doing what was asked at training, to the approach on gameday.

He said the club was now looking forward to being competitive in A Grade Division 1 and the return of Inshaka Siriwardena, after a first-class season back in Sri Lanka, starting next week, will be crucial to the performance of what is otherwise a good, young side.

Siriwardena said he fully intends to return next summer to Korumburra but at 23 years of age, he still has ambitions of playing at the highest level in Sri Lanka and maybe beyond.

The umpires were praised for their management of the game and the grounds volunteers for the wicket and surrounds at Leongatha.

• A Grade, Division 1

THEY were shaky throughout the regular season, but when it came finals time, Phillip Island simply would not be denied, producing their best two performances of the year on their way to a second consecutive A1 premiership. After just scraping into the finals race, the Sharks reached the decider where they faced Leongatha for the second season running, a team who also just made the finals with a final round win.

The two sides faced off at the beautifully prepared Korumburra Recreation Reserve and the Scorpions won the toss and sent the Islanders in to bat first.

Having been bowled out for under 100 in their final two home and away games, the Island XI had the odds stacked against them against the in form Town attack, but this didn't bother the reigning premiers.

They lost the talented Eli Richards (17) early with the score 1/19 but were not going to let this be the start of another dark day with the bat, and led by their champion captain Daniel Mock (40 from 96) began to surge.

Mock combined brilliantly with Lachlan Cleeland (92 from 175) who looked as though he was in for a day, especially after passing the half century mark and getting a second chance after being dropped in slip.

Following the pair's 93-run stand, Mock was dismissed as the ever-reliable Amila Ratnaike (2/84 from 18) struck for Town, this sparked a brief fightback as Darcy Hume (1/74 from 16) had Daniel Bourke (3) caught and bowled.

However, the Scorpions just couldn't get a roll on, as Shiran Rathnayake (112 from 123) joined Cleeland at the crease and helped the Sharks take back firm control of the innings.

The pair put on 80, before Cleeland fell, just eight runs short of a century, and Jarrod Black (0) soon followed as the Town boys again began to fightback.
